SIX OF FAMILY ARE FOUND MURDERED ON FARM IN MANITOBA

Special Train Rushes Posse of Police Officers to Scene of Slaying—Neighbors Discover Crime When Attracted by Flames of Burning Home —Two Carried From Fire

ELMA, Man., Jan. 29 (CP).—Wholesale murder laid the paralyzing hand of fear on this community of small farmers today. Cutting loose with an axe or a knife and possibly a shotgun in the farmhouse of Martin Sitar early today, a fiendish slayer left Sitar, his wife and four of their children either dead or with fatal wounds.

Of the family of seven, only one, four-year-old Paul, is alive tonight. Supposedly in an attempt to destroy the bodies of his victims, the slayer set the house on fire and it was the smoke which attracted the attention of neighbors and led to the discovery of the crime.

Law enforcement forces of the Province of Manitoba were quickly mobilized in a search for the killer. On receipt of word of the slaying, Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General, at once secured a special train, which rushed a posse of provincial police from Winnipeg. Tonight the officers are scouring the district undeterred by the bitter cold weather.

HIRED MAN MISSING

Tom Hrechkosie, farm laborer, who worked for the Sitars, is missing and is the immediate object of the police search.

Wounds on the body of the father indicated the slayer might have started his bloody task by using a shotgun at close range. Searching through the ashes of the house this afternoon police found the burned remnants of a shotgun and two rifles. Wounds on the other victims are believed to have been inflicted either with an axe or a large knife.

About 6:30 this morning, Mrs. Nellie Kachur and her son Mike, who live a short distance from the Sitar home, were aroused by the smell of smoke. They rushed across and found the house a mass of flames with the door barred on the outside by two stout pieces of wood.

FORCE ENTRANCE TO HOUSE

Kachur forced an entrance with an axe, plunged through the flames and brought out Mrs. Sitar, who was still alive. She had severe wounds about the head and died a few minutes later. Andrew Kachur, Mike's father, arrived and the two men brought out Jennie, aged seven; Paul, aged four, and the body of the father. Late tonight Paul was

BRITAIN TAKES ISLAND LUMBER

First Shipment Going Overseas From Chemainus Mill Next Week

When the motorship Beljeanne clears from Chemainus next week it will carry away a full cargo of sawn British Columbia lumber for the United Kingdom and will be one of the first shipments of its kind from Vancouver Island, and the first cargo to go forward from the new Swedish mill erected recently by the Hillcrest Lumber Company, Limited, of Duncan.

The lumber is cut true to size and kiln dried, thus insuring that it will be ready for use on arrival in London. Hitherto the great objection to the common grade of British Columbia lumber in the United Kingdom has been the want of uniformity in sawing and the lumber not being seasoned.

BUILDS NEW MILL

Carlton Stone, president of the Hillcrest Lumber Company, visited the Old Country about a year ago, and, after studying conditions there, came back convinced that the only way of catering to the market there was to give the buyer what he asked for and which he could obtain from the Baltic mills. Mr. Stone, therefore, built a new mill at Duncan at considerable cost and installed the latest Swedish machinery and dry kilns. The mill has been operating successfully and economically, and is the only one of its kind in British Columbia.

Since Mr. Stone returned from Britain, the Hillcrest Lumber Company, in conjunction with the McElroy Lumber Company, Victoria exporters, who have a large connection in the Old Country, has been keeping in close touch with the buyers and this shipment is exciting keen interest in the overseas trade.

OTHER SHIPMENTS

Other shipments will be going forward within the next few weeks. One will go to Liverpool and another to Glasgow. Considerable credit is due to the two firms handling the shipments for the manner in which they have conducted negotiations, and these firms have every reason to hope that as a result of these trial shipments a large portion of the United Kingdom business for common grades of lumber will be directed to British Columbia.

Carlton Stone is president of the Hillcrest Lumber Company and James D. Pollock is the manager. Colonel J. Lightbody is president of the McElroy Lumber Company and D. A. Matthew is vice-president.

The Hillcrest mill is electrically operated throughout, cutting about 40,000 feet per day of material suitable for lumber for the British market, where carefully and accurately cut stock is desired. Most of the output of the mill is kiln dried.

APPOINTMENT IS EXPECTED

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen Mentioned for Senate—Nothing to Say

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP).—Appointment of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen to the Senate and his selection as Government leader in the Upper Chamber is now regarded as practically certain. It is understood that the appointment of Mr. Meighen to the Senate will be made very soon. His selection as leader of the Government forces in the Senate will follow at a Conservative caucus slated for the opening day of Parliament.

Hon. W. B. Willoughby, of Moose Jaw, has been Government leader during past sessions but is resigning the leadership.

With Mr. Meighen as leader of the Government forces in the Senate they will be directed by a man who is regarded as being one of the best Parliamentary debaters of the day. Both during his period as a minister under Sir Robert Borden, as Prime Minister and as leader of the Opposition, Mr. Meighen excelled in Parliamentary discussion. He has had extended political experience both in and out of Parliament.

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (CP).—"I have nothing whatever to say. For five years I have repeated that, until I know it off by heart. I have nothing whatever to say." This was the comment of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Premier of Canada, when questioned today regarding an Ottawa dispatch to the effect that it was regarded as practically certain he would be appointed to the Senate and selected as Government leader in the Upper Chamber.

PERCY G. DAVIES IS SELECTED CANDIDATE

EDMONTON, Jan. 29.—Percy G. Davies, barrister of Clyde, Alta., was chosen as Conservative candidate for Athabaska Federal riding, at a convention held here yesterday. The by-election, which will be held March 21, is to fill the seat left vacant by the death of J. C. Buckley, M.P.

B.C. Municipalities Win Reconsideration Of Work Proposals

Provincial Government Is Asked for Details of Original Plans by Ottawa—Agreement Covering Work in Camps En Route to Victoria

TWO factors brought considerable encouragement to those in charge of relief administration in British Columbia yesterday, in the course of advices from the Dominion unemployment committee at Ottawa. The first was a definite request for details of the original proposals as submitted by fifty-one British Columbia municipalities, apparently for review at Ottawa; and the other, telegraphic advices confirming the fact that the Provincial Government's request for permission to start a programme of limited works for 10,000 men will be granted.

EARTHQUAKE IS RECORDED HERE

Severe Tremor on Seismograph Yesterday Estimated as Being 6,300 Miles From Victoria

An earthquake, which lasted for more than five hours and reported by F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Observatory, as being very severe, was recorded here yesterday morning between the hours of 5:54 o'clock and 11 a.m. Mr. Denison estimated the centre of the quake to be about 6,300 miles east or west of Victoria, probably the latter.

Similar reports of tremors were received from Washington, Pasadena and Denver. The Washington dispatch reports that the disturbance was about 8,500 miles from there, while the Pasadena report estimated the centre to be about 6,000 miles to the northwest.

The Denver account described the tremor as "probably very destructive," and judged the centre to be from three to four thousand miles away.

The history of municipal work programmes, shortly put, is that fifty-one out of the seventy-five municipalities in the province presented work programmes totaling more than $6,000,000 to the Provincial Government last year, to get in under the 1931 Dominion Relief Act. These programmes were greatly reduced on a first review by the Provincial authorities, and on preliminary consideration by Senator Gideon Robertson and other Federal officials who came to the Coast to discuss the matter. Finally, a sum between $2,750,000 and $2,900,000 was approved by Ottawa as the aggregate cost to which municipal works could go.

RESPONSE IS RECEIVED

Recently, in direct representations to Ottawa, the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities asked reconsideration of the subject, in view of the fact that the expenditure of the final allotments had almost been completed, and that unemployment was by no means at an end in these centres. Ottawa's response has been to ask for details of the programmes submitted by these centres, and this data is now being prepared by Provincial officials for immediate submission to Ottawa.

Hon. R. H. Bruhn, who made the

Two Canadian Destroyers at Salvador

THE Republic of Salvador, Central America, has been under martial law since January 24, while officials are suppressing a Communist uprising. H.M.S. Vancouver (1) and H.M.S. Skeena (2), two Canadian destroyers from the Esquimalt station, are standing by to protect foreign interests should the need arise. Commander Victor G. Brodeur, captain of the Skeena, is shown in (4) and the Republic of Salvador in (3).

Winnipeg Carmen Reach Agreement

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29 (CP).—Settlement of a wage dispute between Winnipeg Electric Company and its street railway employees, which for more than a month has threatened to result in complete tie-up of the city's street railway system, was reached early this morning when the workers voted at a mass meeting to accept a compromise proposal which will mean reduction of wages by 6 1-4 per cent.

The company's intention was to cut wages 10 per cent.

NO POLITICS IN EMPIRE TRADE

Commissioner Tells of Enthusiasm in Australia—No Fear of Conquest

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Jan. 29 (CP).—R. MacGregor, Australian Trade Commissioner and one of the makers of the trade treaty between his country and Canada, has no fear that the island continent will ever fly the Japanese flag. Mr. MacGregor is in Saint John regarding the development of trade with Canada, and he was asked today to comment on the recent statement of Dr. Eugene Chen, former Foreign Minister of China, that Japan meant to annex Manchuria, dominate the Pacific and then proceed to the conquest of Australia.

"I have come to New Brunswick in an endeavor to measure the possibilities of trade between Canada and Australia and to form contacts with importers and exporters," said Mr. MacGregor. "In Australia, trade within the Empire is very strongly favored. Empire trade is not a party political question in our country; it has the support of all political parties."

Russo-Japanese Conflict Becomes Danger in North

Possibility Envisaged as Consequence of Dispute Over Operation of Chinese Eastern Railway and Transportation of Japanese Troops to Harbin—Tension Between Factions

HARBIN, Jan. 29 (AP).—The possibility that Japan and Russia might come to grips over the operation of the Chinese Eastern Railway was envisaged tonight in view of the conflict between rival Chinese armies. Ting Chao, commander of the railway guards, was reported by the Rengo correspondent to have appealed to the manager of the railway, jointly owned and operated by China and Russia, to urge the Soviet Government to send troops into this area.

His fears were aroused by news that Japan was sending heavy reinforcements to Harbin under the command of General Tamon and was prepared to take sides with the Chinese army under Governor Hsi Hsia, of Kirin Province, against his own forces.

TO STEM ADVANCE

Commander Ting telegraphed the Chinese Government at Nanking, and Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang at Peiping, saying he intended to stem the advance of the Japanese.

"I will co-operate with the Russians in attempting to check the Japanese marching on Harbin," he said.

The situation brought about by incessant strife between the armies of Ting and Hsi over the past few days was aggravated by growing tension between "Red" and "White" Russians and between various Chinese factions. Three thousand armed employees of the railway were guarding the line's office and the Soviet consulate because of fear of attacks by "White" Russians.

OCCUPIED HEADQUARTERS

Commander Ting was said to have arrested Governor Chang Chin Hui of the Harbin district, and proclaimed himself the successor. He was understood to have occupied the Provincial Government headquarters.

SAYS VERIGIN HAS EVIDENCE

Witness States Leader of Doukhobors Has Proof Against Firebug

YORKTON, Sask., Jan. 29.—Evidence that Peter Verigin, Doukhobor leader in Canada, had made statements that he had documents in his possession to prove that Doukhobors who had broken away from the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood were responsible for the fires which have wiped out scores of Saskatchewan schools, was today made in court here by Peter Demovesky.

Demovesky was giving evidence in a case in which George Chutskoff is charged with perjury, and in which the latter case has taken a back seat as Verigin made startling revelations on his life prior to coming to Canada four years ago and his actions and financial success in the intervening years.

PLANS FOR MARCH

Verigin today denied having told some Doukhobors that he was gathering an army to march to Regina, thence to Winnipeg and on to Ottawa, but he admitted he had stated that unemployed were gathering and would march towards the Provincial Parliament.

Verigin was asked this morning if he was a member of the Sons of Freedom sect of his followers.

He countered with the question, "Do I look like one of those that strip naked?" to which defence counsel answered, "Well, if you have any inclination that way this morning you had better postpone it." "It was only 30 below zero in Yorkton.

WOULD MANAGE COIN STANDARD

British Banker Says Managed Currency Possible—Would Drop Gold Basis Definitely

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—A "managed currency" instead of the gold standard, was advocated today by Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, chairman of the Midland Bank, in an address at the annual meeting of the bank's stockholders.

"The immediate choice before this country is inescapable," he said, "either we must have a soundly managed gold standard, which could only be secured by well-ordered international action, or we must abandon gold definitely and rely on a managed standard, without any metallic basis at all."

Mr. McKenna said the events since Britain suspended the gold standard proved to him that management was possible and he felt the gold standard itself is a mistaken ideal.

RIOTING IN BOMBAY

BOMBAY, Jan. 29 (AP).—A hundred and sixty persons were wounded today when police fired on and clubbed Nationalist rebels in a series of riots. The situation till was out of control tonight.

BIG PASSENGER PLANE MISSING

Terrific Winds Sweep Route of Machine in Southern California

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29 (AP).—A tri-motored air passenger liner with a pilot and seven passengers aboard was lost tonight somewhere in the rugged mountain and desert country between here and Bakersfield, Cal., about 150 miles north.

The plane left Bakersfield at 3:50 p.m., and was due here an hour later. Late tonight nothing had been heard from it, but officials of the operating company, the Century Pacific, clung to hope, with terrific winds reported over the area, that the plane had landed on some little valley floor, possibly far distant from a telephone.

SMASH-UP FEARED

If the pilot was forced down in the extensive mountain area of his route, however, flyers here believed it unlikely that Pilot J. V. Sanblum, Los Angeles, could land without a serious crack-up.

Century officials said the ship had gas enough for three hours and forty minutes' flying when it left Bakersfield. When this time had elapsed, they said, it must be down and could only hope for the best.

PREPARING TO SEARCH

Captain William Bright, head of the sheriff's homicide squad, tonight ordered all his men to prepare to strike out at dawn into the mountain section in a search. Century Pacific planes and those of other air lines are scheduled to take off at daybreak to scan the peaks and near-inaccessible valleys.

SERIOUS WAR CONDITIONS DEVELOP IN SHANGHAI AREA

Counter-Attack by Chinese Forces Retirement of Japanese From Positions Seized in Native City —Raging Conflagration, Bombs and Machine Guns Bring Death and Destruction

Thousands of Casualties Suffered Among Civilians

WITH the reported armistice between Japanese and Chinese forces in the Shanghai area based merely on fond hope of the civilian authorities and repudiated by the commanders of both the Japanese and Chinese fighting forces, hostilities continued yesterday in the Shanghai area, and Chapei was a regular theatre of war.

As morning dawned six huge fires, merging into one vast conflagration, were slowly creeping towards the international settlement, and there was an increased rattle of rifle and machine gun fire, punctuated by the roar from the holocaust devouring life and property wholesale.

The Chinese military command issued a warning to the settlement authorities that Chinese guns would be trained on the international area unless influence was brought to bear to stop the tide of invasion.

The Shanghai wireless station was bombed out of commission. Japanese airplanes continued to bomb the Chapei area and marines to use machine guns.

The Shanghai-Nanking railway station was burned; enormous casualties among the Chinese, with many bullet-ridden bodies of women, children and babies, brought into first aid stations, were reported, and commercial activity in the settlement and native cities was at a complete standstill.

With the Japanese Government standing pat on the occupation of Shanghai, danger of Russo-Japanese conflict in Manchuria became grave.

The British and the United States Governments made joint representations to Japan regarding the protection of foreign lives and property in Shanghai's foreign settlement, into which thousands of terrified Chinese have been trying to make their way to find safety.

FORCE RETIREMENT

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30 (AP). — Chinese troops, flinging a fierce counter-attack against the Japanese today, forced them to retire from the positions in the native city they had seized in a day and a half of hard fighting.

Two battalions of Japanese reinforcements from the cruiser Tatsuta and four destroyers, which anchored in the Whangpo River, after a fast trip from the Sasebo naval base, were landed to meet this new threat.

In the confusion attending the renewal of the battle, made greater by a vast conflagration creeping slowly toward the international settlement from Chapei, it was impossible to identify the Chinese troops responsible for the sudden and determined offensive movement. It was reported that well-trained units of Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek's forces, which were supposed to have succeeded in entering the city during the night, had got into action.

VAST CONFLAGRATION

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30.—Six huge fires, virtually merged into one vast conflagration, crept slowly toward the international settlement this morning from the Chapei native section, where the rattle of machine gun and rifle fire foretold another day of battle.

At 4 a.m. there was a sharp increase in the tat-tat-tat of machine gun bursts. Chinese officials said this new activity came from the crack troops of former President Chiang Kai-Shek, once more raised to power in the Nanking Govern-

League Clears Way For Organization Of Neutral Inquiry

GENEVA, Jan. 29 (AP).—The League of Nations Council today cleared the way for immediate organization of a neutral inquiry into the conflict at Shanghai.

Dr. W. W. Yen, for China, invoked Articles X and XV of the League covenant when the council met. Article X guarantees the political independence and territorial integrity of the signatories, and Article XV gives the council the right to act in circumstances such as these without the vote of interested parties.

Naotake Sato, for Japan, challenged the council's right to act. The chairman overruled him and asked the secretary to make all the necessary arrangements for full investigation of the dispute.

GET PROMISE FROM JAPAN

Great Britain and United States Make Joint Representation to Tokio

LONDON, Jan. 29. (AP). — The British Government, joined by the United States, today is making firm representations to Japan regarding the protection of foreign lives and property in beleaguered Shanghai.

Foreign Minister Sir John Simon was understood to have asked the Japanese Government not to take action within the boundaries of the international settlement without first consulting powers with interests there.

ACTION SUGGESTED

France and Italy were notified of the Anglo-American pledge of cooperation, and it was suggested that they take similar action to insure the safety of their nationals in the Shanghai district.

Government officials held to the belief that the defence forces of Great Britain, the United States, France and Italy in Shanghai were sufficiently strong to cope with any development.

PERIL NOT REMOVED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP). — Mindful that the Japanese pledge against violating Shanghai's international settlement falls far short of removing the peril to foreigners in China as a whole, the American Government stood poised tonight for any further action needed to protect its interests.

Teaming with it was Great Britain, whose ambassador — Sir Ronald Lindsay — twice visited the State Department during the day.

After his first call and a discussion of the Far Eastern troubles at the Cabinet meeting with President Hoover, Secretary Stimson announced the two countries had obtained a promise from Japan that its troops would not occupy the treaty-protected quarter of Shanghai "unless the municipal force became clearly inadequate to protect life and property."

LOOKING TO LEAGUE

PARIS, Jan. 29 (AP).—The Foreign Office said tonight it was looking to the League of Nations to handle the Sino-Japanese conflict at Shanghai, and that there was no immediate reason to expect that the French policy would be changed for more direct action.

Irish Free State House Dissolved

DUBLIN, Jan. 29 (AP).—The Dail Eireann was dissolved by proclamation today and President William T. Cosgrave immediately opened his campaign for a majority in the general election February 16.

"If the people renew confidence in us, we will continue to take a firm stand against terrorism," Mr. Cosgrave told an audience of 5,000 at the Mansion House.

PREMIER NOT TAKING SIDES

Ramsay MacDonald Expresses Moral Regret at Shanghai Events

THORNLEY, Durham, Eng., Jan. 29 (AP).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald told a gathering of his own constituents tonight that the "state of things at Shanghai is deplorable."

"Apart from the details of diplomacy, I express without reserve the moral and rational regrets of everybody that such events should happen," Mr. MacDonald continued.

"For the moment I assign no blame. I take no sides, but the experience is a very disappointing one."

It was the Prime Minister's first visit to his constituency since the election campaign last Fall. Several hundred persons heard him speak.

On the subject of German reparations the Prime Minister made this declaration:

"We have to stick to the problem of reparations until that error has been wiped off the history of Europe."

Touching on home affairs, Mr. MacDonald said, "Last week I strove almost literally day and night to keep the National Government from crumbling. Next week, so soon as the rules of the House of Commons enable, a programme which, so far as it goes, will assist the finance of this country and its trade, will be produced."

Divers Unable to Locate Submarine Off Portland

Many Objects Examined on Channel Bottom but All Prove to Be Old Wrecks—Memorial Service to Be Held Sunday

PORTLAND, England, Jan. 29 (AP).—The flotilla searching for the sunken submarine M-2 discovered eleven new objects on the bed of the Channel off Portland Bill today, but divers, investigating under ideal conditions, found all of them to be old wrecks.

Some of the finds were the remains of ships sunk during the Great War. Although all hope of rescuing alive any of the sixty-one men on the M-2 has been abandoned by Admiralty officials, the search is to be continued.

Large quantities of oil bubbled up to the surface in the West Bay but it was impossible to establish where they came from.

The ideal diving weather came just at the expiration of the time limit in which the men of the M-2 might have been found alive.

A memorial service for the seamen lost in the British submarine will be held at the little Avalanche Church in the village of Southwell, near here, Sunday. The little church was built thirty years ago by relatives of the men who were lost in the wreck of a ship named Avalanche.

Following the service, relatives of the missing submarine crew and officers of the navy were to go out in a destroyer to cast wreaths on the water and say prayers for the dead at the spot where the M-2 is believed to have made its last dive.

TIMBER WOLVES BECOME BOLDER

Bands Invade Northern B.C. Town and Destroy Much Stock

ALICE ARM, B.C., Jan. 29.—The bands of timber wolves that have surrounded Alice Arm for the past month, are becoming bolder. Hunger has forced them to even enter the town, and their weird, long-drawn howls, which heretofore were only heard at a distance, were heard during this week within a few hundred feet of several residences on the hill side west of the town.

Their depredations are also increasing. A few evenings ago they killed a spaniel dog belonging to J. A. Wheatley, 300 feet from his house. Recently they dragged the dead body of a calf from the woodshed of J. Sauer, who operates a farm near the Illiance River, and last week-end they partly devoured a tame goat, belonging to W. Stephen, that had become bogged in a water hole near his house.

ON TIDE FLATS

On Thursday evening, their howls rent the air within a few hundred feet of the residences of S. Fraser and H. F. Kergin, and wolves were observed quite near on the tide flats. On Friday morning, daybreak revealed several a short distance up the hill. They also recently invaded the garden of J. Skonsing, and from his observations the leader was a tremendous specimen, gaunt and forbidding.

The close proximity of the wolves this week have spurred several trappers and woodsmen to hunt them down, but so far they have not been fortunate enough to encounter them.

Observatory Here Gave Important Information

Dr. J. S. Plaskett, Addressing Astronomical Society, Shows Contribution Made by Local Research to Knowledge of Gaseous Matter

Science the world over is indebted to work done at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Victoria, for some of the now universally accepted theories concerning the diffuse gaseous matter in space.

In the very interesting address which he gave last night for the local centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the observatory here, disclosed this fact while reciting the history of research work on the question.

It has been supposed for about 150 years, from observations of the nebulae by Sir William Herschel that these luminous objects were of a gaseous nature, the lecturer stated in rehearsing the history of research work on the subject. This was definitely proved by Sir William Huggins about sixty years ago on examining them with the spectroscope. Furthermore, Barnard found, about thirty years ago, dark regions in photographs of the Milky Way which were assumed to be due to gaseous or meteoric matter cutting off the light from the more distant stars.

QUESTION ARISES

Observation discovered that these bright and dark nebulae occupied only an exceedingly small fraction of the sky's area. The question naturally arose as to whether gaseous matter was more widely distributed throughout the tremendous distances that separated the stars of the galaxy. The first clue was given by Hartmann, at Potsdam, in 1904. In examining the spectrum of the star delta in the constellation Orion he found that two lines, H and K of calcium, could not have come from the star itself but must have arisen from the absorption of an intervening cloud of calcium gas.

The next stage was due to work by Dr. Plaskett in 1923 on the hottest known stars which are distributed around the Milky Way. The calcium lines were found in all these stars, and it was shown conclusively that the calcium gas must be widely distributed throughout the galaxy, that it was nearly stationary in the system, and that these hot stars were rushing rapidly about in all directions through this stationary diffuse gas.

EDDINGTON'S WORK

Eddington, in 1926, had taken these Victoria observations and developed "a beautiful theory" concerning the properties of this diffuse gas. He showed that it was exceedingly diffuse, millions of millions times higher vacuum than could be obtained on the earth, "so tenous that a hollow sphere the size of the earth would only contain about four ounces of the gas."

Professor Eddington had also shown that this gas must be at an effective temperature of more than 20,000 degrees, and that it should be revealed by the calcium lines in stars of more than eight hundred light years distance.

FULLY CONFIRMED

Just as the work at Victoria was the basis of Eddington's theoretical treatment, so this theory was fully confirmed and difficulties removed by further work at Victoria by Dr. J. A. Pearce and Dr. Plaskett, who had been able to demonstrate that this diffuse gaseous matter was uniformly distributed throughout the galaxy and in rotation, along with the stars, around a very distant centre.

"Although the speed is nearly two hundred miles a second, which is two thousand times faster than man has ever traveled on the earth, so large is the galaxy that it will take about 250,000,000 years to make one revolution, hence only three or four revolutions will have taken place in the whole span of geological time," said the lecturer.

This demonstration of the presence, properties, and motions of this exceedingly tenuous gas, due mainly to work at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, was one of the most important of recent developments in cosmogony, the chairman commented in according the lecturer the thanks of the meeting.

LUMBER PRICES ARE STEADYING

Continuous Downward Trend of Two Years Halted and Prospects Improve

While the average price trend of lumber from the Pacific Northwest has fallen steadily for two years, many operators believe that the bottom has been reached and an upturn can be expected, together with some improvement in demand, it was stated at the Legislative Buildings yesterday by forestry officials.

Taken from a compilation by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, the price trend for 1930 showed $17.75 per 1,000 feet in January, $15.25 in June and $13.50 in December. This trend continued in 1931, with an average of $13.50 in January, $11.75 in June and $11 in December. The average cost of production is placed at approximately $15 per 1,000 feet, which, however, includes items of continuing account, such as depreciation, return on investment, etc. Individual sales have been made at higher levels, depending on grades and circumstances, but the figures given hold for the average prices received.

Recent trends since the first of the year have been upward, it is stated, with fair prospects of steady improvement during the current year. Low stocks of logs in the water have led to some resumption of logging, and cutting for export has brought business recently to several mills that had shut down.

Recovery of a more normal level of building construction, good crops in Canada this season and greatly improved chances of export sales in British countries are all factors which may develop to a point where much better prospects will be encountered by the lumber industry in the near future.

only official announcement given out on the subject yesterday, stated simply that the Dominion Government had wired for details of the municipal programme as originally presented, and that this information would be immediately supplied.

On the question of work in provincial camps, Mr. Bruhn said that an agreement covering this proposal was on its way to Victoria from the Federal authorities, and would be on hand on Monday or Tuesday next. Until the actual arrival and perusal of the agreement, however, no decision on this subject will be taken by the Provincial Government, he intimated.

WANT DOMINION AID

The Provincial Government has asked that if work is started again for the 6,000 men remaining in camps and for approximately 3,000 others in the unorganized territories, that the Dominion Government supply half of the cost of putting the part-time work proposal into effect.

In favor of the plan is cited the fact that it could be carried out at little added cost to the present apportionment of direct relief without any return in work, while permanent work could be secured for the greater part of any such outlay.

With assurance of action in relation to its men in camps, and at least a promise of reconsideration for municipal work programmes, unemployment relief affairs in British Columbia took a definite turn for the better yesterday, as a result of the events of the day.

Arrival of 12,000 transients within twelve months from other parts in Canada has been the outstanding factor rendering difficult any final settlement of the problems in this province. These men came in droves during 1931 from the Canadian West, at the rate of 1,000 a month, or the equivalent of twelve battallons of infantry at peace strength during the year past.

SIX OF FAMILY ARE FOUND MURDERED ON FARM IN MANITOBA

still hovering at the point of death and Jennie had died during the day.

As the building was about to collapse the rescuers were forced to retreat but they still heard groans from within. The bodies of Frank, aged twenty; Walter, aged eleven, and Bert, aged ten, were later found in the ruins of the house.

All the bodies were hacked and mutilated.

MAY HAVE PERISHED

Police tonight thought there was a scant possibility Hreghkosie might have perished in the fire. No trace of his body was found in the ruins. The wanted man slept in the loft of the small house with Frank Sitar, eldest son of the doomed family.

Another possibility is that the man may have perished in the blizzard which raged over the district today. If he attempted to escape on foot and found no shelter, the biting wind and the eighteen below zero temperature would almost certainly prove fatal. All roads are being watched and railway lines are under close surveillance.

It was first believed the family had been slain in their sleep, but when neighbors went to feed Sitar's stock they found they had already been fed and watered. This led to the conclusion Sitar and possibly his hired man had started their morning chores before the killing took place.

No motive for the crime has yet been advanced.

POLICEMEN IN LUCK

DUBLIN, Jan. 29 (AP). — The Free State Government yielded to protests, today, and decided not to enforce a 5 per cent cut in the pay of policemen, which was to have been effective on February 1.

SLIGHT FOOD CHANGES AFFECT THE BODY TREMENDOUSLY

My grandniece weighed less at eight months than at birth, due to "Infantile eczema." Was plastered with ointments and unbathed for several months—entire household exhausted from lack of sleep. I added vegetable juice to each bottle feeding, nothing more. After two days she slept fourteen hours without waking. Ointments then discontinued, baths resumed. No rash, no itching in four years since. Why? Vegetable juice alkalinized her blood, killing the acid-caused eczema. Alkaline Roman Meal has kept her blood alkaline since.

Alkaline Roman Meal also saved my life when the great Osler told me twenty-four years ago I could not live four months. Now at 74 not two per cent of men 30 have muscles, strength or endurance equal to mine, built up out of alkaline Roman Meal. I'll send you a free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofysub, the new alkaline beverage, if you'll write for them to ROBT. G. SERIOUS WAR CONDITIONS DEVELOP IN SHANGHAI AREA ment, who were reported to have been brought into the city and placed in line during the night.

Whether Marshal Chiang had succeeded in getting in a force of imposing numbers was expected to be established some time after dawn. A large-scale action against the Japanese invaders might be expected then, said the Chinese, if a major reinforcing troop movement had been carried out.

THREAT TO SETTLEMENT

The day brought a threat to the international settlement as well as to the Chapei district, where unknown numbers of Chinese have been killed during the sanguinary fighting of the last few days.

The Chinese military command warned the settlement authorities that unless they used their influence to halt the rising tide of the Invaders Chinese guns would be trained on the international area.

At the same time, it was authentically reported that, with the consent of British Consul-General J. F. Brenan, the Japanese would take over the international area.

All Shanghai was brilliantly lighted early this morning by the flames of Chapei, which leaped seventy-five to a hundred feet in the air. The roar of the conflagration could be heard for a great distance. It was estimated that already damage amounting to $5,000,000 had been caused.

MORE LANDING PARTIES

Against the threat of Chiang Kai-Shek's troops the Japanese ordered new landing parties from their cruisers anchored in the Whangpo.

Beyond the lines of the international settlement thousands of terrified Chinese attempted to make their way toward the magic foreign area, where they might find safety.

Here was a major danger, comparable to the threat of action by the armed forces of China, who, it was feared, might decide to enter the settlement in the belief that by sheer numbers they might overwhelm the comparative handful of men defending the area's long and tortuous borders.

DRAMATIC DEVELOPMENTS

The second day and night of Japanese occupation brought a series of dramatic developments. An attempt by civilian authorities to effect an armistice failed.

Japanese marines, aided by air bombers, continued their advance in Chapei in the face of stubborn resistance by Chinese soldiers.

An American mission in the international settlement was invaded by the Japanese. The Shanghai wireless station was bombed out of commission. A shell fell in the settlement but no one was hurt.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION

Bombs, machine guns and rifles spread death and destruction through the native districts. Illumination and communication facilities were blotted out. Flames devoured what the battling soldiers left. The casualties were listed in the thousands.

The quarters of the Southern Methodist Mission were entered by Japanese soldiers early this morning and the furniture was demolished. They excused themselves by saying they were searching for guns and anti-Japanese literature, but mission officials said they would file claim for damages.

Chapei was a regular theatre of war, as the Japanese strove to consolidate positions already captured and extend their control over the entire area. At no point did the Chinese offer mass resistance, but they impeded the progress of the invaders by sniping at them from every conceivable vantage point. The issue still was in doubt long after midnight.

TERROR FOR CIVILIANS

The hours brought terror to the civilian population as the flames, started by Japanese bombs, licked at the ancient ramshackle structures and filled the tortuous streets and alleys with smoke and firebrands. The people became the targets of the bullets of both sides in the confusion of battle.

A dozen Japanese airplanes wheeled and circled above the beleagured area, dropping carriers of death that sent up enormous eruptions. Japanese marines stole through the streets in groups, picking off snipers with machine guns. The Chinese called on their knowledge of the city to harass the enemy at every step with small arms fire. Over all the conflagration snapped and crackled, threatening to [illegible] out the area.

RAILWAY STATION BURNED

During the holocaust, the Shanghai-Nanking Railway station, captured and lost by the Japanese, burned to the ground. Japanese headquarters were besieged by the Chinese and they came dangerously near to taking it.

The railroad line was severed and telegraph and telephone lines crashed to the ground. Lights were shot out and darkness prevailed. A bomb dropping within the settlement ignited another blaze, but it was quickly squelched.

CASUALTIES ENORMOUS

Chinese refugees streaming into the settlement reported the casualties among the 200,000 people were enormous and that the dead and dying would run into thousands. Eyewitnesses said sickening scenes were observed in first aid stations, where the bodies of women, children and babies, riddled with bullets, were brought in.

Nor could anyone say that the end was in sight.

One group of defenders rushed into the settlement and fired on Japanese defence troops, but were driven off. Another band attacked a Japanese club close to the boundary and also was thrown back.

Commercial activity in the settlement and native cities came to a complete standstill. Banks and business houses closed their doors.

The Chinese Chamber of Commerce declared a general strike in protest against Japanese operations. Foreign officials looked on the development with growing anxiety, and their nationals waited with apprehension for what nightfall might bring.

NO ARMISTICE

Published reports of an armistice grew out of the efforts of Japanese consular officials and Chinese civil authorities to bring an end to the hostilities. Their work was nullified by military chiefs on both sides, who took the position a truce could not settle the controversy.

The Chinese command issued a statement accusing the Japanese of "murdering our people, burning our homes and seeking to create a situation which would give them an excuse for aggression in the Yangtze Valley.

"We intend to defend our territory as long as we have a single man or a single round of ammunition."

PARTIAL WITHDRAWAL

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30 (AP).—Japanese military authorities announced at 9 o'clock this morning that Chinese reinforcements had made it necessary for them to execute a partial withdrawal movement to the east toward the North Szechuen Road, which is the base of Japanese operations outside the International Settlement.

The cruiser Tatsuta and four destroyers arrived from the Sasebo naval base today and two battalions of marines were landed.

Japanese officials indicated the resumption of bombing was likely at any moment.

A Japanese military spokesman said that the Chinese had brought field guns into position in Chapei and had fired a number of shells upon the Japanese headquarters.

MAGNIFICENT ACTION

The vernacular newspapers today printed a proclamation in which twenty Chinese political leaders praised the "magnificent action" of their military forces in opposing the Japanese at Chapei.

Among those signing the proclamation were Sun Fo and Eugene Chen, both of whom resigned recently from the Nanking Government because their colleagues would not join in a strong policy against Japan. It was reported the wealthy Sun Fo had given 100,000 Mexican (about $50,000) to be distributed among the Chinese troops who took part in the Chapei battle.

SHIPS READY FOR DASH

MANILA, Jan. 30 (AP).—Making ready to dash for Shanghai on short notice, eight more destroyers of the American Asiatic fleet were geared here today for possible service in the new area of conflict between China and Japan.

Four destroyers sailed hurriedly yesterday and the additional preparations were made as alarming reports of fighting in the Chinese city were received.

The new cruiser Houston, flagship of the fleet's commander, Rear Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, was undergoing minor repairs at Cavite, on Manila Bay, but the admiral said it could be ready to sail in twenty-four hours' notice.

Three other destroyers, a dozen submarines and a small fleet of colliers, mine layers and tenders were available for instant use.

HONGKONG, Jan. 30 (AP). — The British cruiser, Suffolk, left Hongkong for Shanghai today.

HANKOW, Jan. 29 (AP). — Residents of the Japanese community feverishly constructed barricades today as tension over the Sino-Japanese controversy grew high. The Chinese attitude toward the Japanese was distinctly hostile.

DARTMOOR CONVICTS ARE STILL RIOTOUS

PRINCETOWN, England, Jan. 29 (AP).—Dartmoor prison convicts rioted last night for the second time this week.

The night in the prison was described as "hideous," with scores of prisoners standing for hours at the doors of their cells to shout threats at their warders.

CONFIDENCE IN OFFICERS SHOWN

Victoria and Saanich Dairymen Re-elect Full Slate of 1931 Officials at Annual Meeting

Officers who directed the Victoria and Saanich Farm and Dairymen's Association during 1931, were re-elected to their respective posts at the annual meeting of the organization held in the Royal Oak Hall last night. Those returned were: President, A. Lambrick; vice-president, J. Oliver; secretary-treasurer, J. Filmer; directors, the above-named and G. Austin and W. Sanders.

The report of Mr. Lambrick pointed out to the large attendance of members the benefits that the association had derived from organization. The secretary's statement showed that the year had ended with a balance and the organization was in good financial standing.

During the evening a communication from the city health department requesting all members who delivered milk in the city to have their names and licence numbers displayed on their cars, was read. The letter also expressed thanks to the body for co-operation in the past.

MANY INJURED IN CLASH IN BOMBAY

BOMBAY, Jan. 29 (AP).—Police action against Nationalist demonstrators today resulted in a casualty list of one dead and twenty-two injured by bullets, and nearly 200 injured by the long sticks with which the police are armed.

For six hours thousands of Nationalists collected in the congested Tazaa district, in defiance of the Government's emergency ordinances. Their disturbances became so serious police were forced to fire.

All Prairies Shivering in Frigid Spell

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29 (CP). — A Prairie Canada tonight shivered in the worst cold spell of the present Winter. Clear from the Rocky Mountains to the Great Lakes, temperatures registered far below the zero mark.

A brisk wind accompanied the frigid spell in Central and Northern Saskatchewan. The mercury was dropping rapidly at Saskatoon tonight. In Southern Alberta the sky was clear, and only a light wind blew, but low temperatures were the order.

Manitoba got the extreme cold a little later than points farther west. Winnipeg thermometers were well below zero all day. Tonight it became steadily colder and the mercury slid down past the twenty-below mark.

Japan May Drop Out Of League

TOKIO, Jan. 30 (AP).—A veiled threat of eventually withdrawing from the League of Nations if the League insists upon what Japan considers to be an unreasonable attitude in the Sino-Japanese controversy was advanced in official circles today.

An authoritative spokesman pointed out in this connection such a move would be entirely in line with a resolution adopted at a general meeting of the Seiyukai (Government) party shortly before Premier Inukai, head of that party, came into office.

GATE CRASH ENDS IN GAS BARRAGE

Youths Forcing Entrance to Wrestling Show Nearly Asphyxiate Patrons and Performers

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29. — Nine youths, bent on gaining free admission to wrestling bouts at the Auditorium, West Georgia Street, on Thursday night accidentally turned loose a gas barrage, which threatened for a time to break up the proceedings.

One of the youths, James Sullivan, appeared in police court today on a charge of maliciously damaging property, while the others are awaiting trial in the juvenile court. Sullivan was allowed to go after being severely warned by Magistrate J. A. Findlay.

According to the evidence, the youths entered the place by forcing a basement window and in climbing through broke a gas pipe.

Patrons of the wrestling performance suddenly found themselves choking with gas fumes, while the wrestlers suffered the same discomfort, and showed it by slowing up.

Investigation by the management disclosed the leak, which was quickly repaired. Another investigation resulted in the arrest of the youths.

Picture Honors Memory Of Ladysmith's Founder

Portrait of Hon. James Dunsmuir Unveiled by Native Sons of British Columbia—Occasion Marks Opening of New Post Headquarters

LADYSMITH, Jan. 29.—This once-thriving centre of the coal industry tonight did honor to the memory of its founder when, in officially opening its new home, Post No. 7, Native Sons of British Columbia, unveiled a picture of Hon. James Dunsmuir, whose initiative and enterprise created the town and maintained it for many years as a prosperous and progressive city.

Officials of the order and old-time residents of Ladysmith joined in eulogizing the former colliery operator, and recalled many instances of his thoughtfulness and generosity. Stories were told of how the father of Hon. James Dunsmuir had been a pioneer of the mining industry on Vancouver Island, being brought out by the Hudson's Bay Company to work in the first coal mine started on the Island, at Fort Rupert; how he came to Nanaimo when, in the 'fifties of the last century, coal was discovered there; how he located a new and larger field of coal and built up the town of Wellington—now but a shade of its former size and greatness. They recalled "Jim" Dunsmuir as a lad among them, and watched him grow into manhood to succeed his father in control of the mines and railway that had developed under the guidance of the older man.

OLD TIMES RECALLED

Little stories were told, too—stories of a personal nature—of how "Jim" Dunsmuir, even when he carried the responsibilities of the Premiership or wore the gold-laced uniform of the Lieutenant-Governorship, was always ready to greet and chat with the men who worked in the mines.

Ladysmith was founded by Hon. James Dunsmuir. He planned the townsite, named the community and its streets, which commemorate the generals who commanded units in the South African War.

In the days that followed, while the Dunsmuir interests remained in control of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway and the mines, Ladysmith prospered. It was a happy place in which to live. Then the railway was disposed of, but still the mines continued under the ownership of Mr. Dunsmuir, and the prosperity of the city continued Then, some twenty years ago, the coal operations were sold to a company, and the personal proprietorship of the pits ended. Ladysmith has never been the same.

GRADUAL DECLINE

There followed a disastrous strike, and from that time the city never regained its old-time prosperity, but has gradually declined. Now there is but little doing in Ladysmith, but the memories of those old days when the city was young and looked forward with the optimism of communal youth to decades of progress are recalled, and in the recalling the young men and the older men of Ladysmith give full measure of appreciation to the worth of the man who provided that early prosperity.

Native Sons of British Columbia in Ladysmith are a vigorous organization. They realize that there are natural resources, other than coal deposits, in the vicinity. They appreciate the scenic advantages and opportunities for the development of tourist trade that the location of the city offers, and they are seeking to draw attention to these values.

NEW COMMUNITY CENTRE

Recently they acquired a substantial building, formerly a printing office, remodeled it to suit their requirements as a lodge room and recreation centre, and are intent upon making it a centre of community enterprise.

The picture was unveiled by Joseph Maipass, who was a schoolmate of Hon. James Dunsmuir. W. W. Walkem introduced Mr. Malpass and, in a lengthy address, told of the activities of the subject of the picture. James P. S. Audain, a grandson of Hon. James Dunsmuir, responded on behalf of the Dunsmuir family.

LODGE OFFICERS SPEAK

John Bennett, of Nanaimo, grand factor of the order, and Victor B. Harrison, of Nanaimo, grand secretary, delivered inspirational messages in brief addresses. B. A. McKelvie, of Victoria, past grand factor, praised the spirit of the people of Ladysmith and of the local post in fostering and maintaining the pioneer objectives.

N. A. Morrison, chief factor of the Ladysmith post, presided at the meeting, which was well attended by members of the Nanaimo and Duncan posts as well as the local branch.

PREFER JOB TO DIRECT RELIEF

Unemployed Confer With Council Committee—Scheme Disliked

A committee representing the unemployed in the city will meet the relief committee of the City Council and discuss the situation. This was agreed at a meeting of the public works committee of the council yesterday afternoon, when a large delegation of unemployed crowded the council chamber and placed their requests before that body.

Mayor Leeming took occasion to inform the delegation that it was useless for them to attempt a course that meant "putting the gun to the heads of the council," for there was nothing to be obtained in that way. He pointed out to the men that the council could only obtain money to spend when the citizens in turn paid it over to them. The money had to come from somewhere, he pointed out.

For the unemployed there appeared Messrs. Hallberg, Wiffen, Clarke and Kroeger. They demanded work and not direct relief.

OPPOSE DIRECT RELIEF

The mayor intimated that the City Council was with them in that respect. The council wanted to see all employed and did not approve of the giving of direct relief, as it was not for the good of the people. It became a question of how to attain these objectives. The Provincial Government, he said, was just as opposed to the system as the council.

Pending the granting of work the delegation demanded $25 a week in wages, or the same amount if work was not found. The alternative was four days' work a week for married men at $4 a day. Single unemployed were to be given two days' work a week, or the equivalent of $8. Other demands included no evictions for rent or taxes no foreclosures on mortgages, and no shutting off of water, light or gas. The cessation of all interest being paid on municipal bonds until the needs of the unemployed were met was also included in the requests.

SEEK TO EFFECT ECONOMY MOVES

Members of Saanich Police Commission May Reduce Salaries of Court Officials

The question of effecting economy in the salaries of the police magistrate and the court clerk was considered at a meeting of the Saanich Police Commission Thursday night, and the members of the board will meet the municipal prosecutor next week to seek his advice as to the possibility of performing certain court duties at Royal Oak instead of in the city court.

The suggestion came first from Commissioner Lewis Goddard, who questioned the possibility of having a court sit at Royal Oak, with the reeve as magistrate, who might handle minor offences. Reeve William Crouch, however, stated that one must have a thorough knowledge of law before undertaking the task or the municipality might be placed in an awkward predicament through taking the wrong action. The suggestion, however, he said, might be referred to the municipal prosecutor for his opinion.

At the opening of the meeting Reeve Crouch extended congratulations to the new member of the board, Commissioner Goddard, speaking highly of the manner in which he had conducted his election campaign. Praise was also voiced by the chairman for the work of the retiring member, Charles King.

A request from Hubert Savage, architect for the new Carey Road High School, to have the police keep a closer surveillance over the building now under construction, was received at the meeting and referred to Chief Allen Rankin.

The report of the police department for December, submitted at the meeting, showed that tax collections totaling $467 were made, and eleven motor accidents reported.

APPEALS OF CRIMINALS DISMISSED

British Columbia Court of Appeal Ignores Pleas of Four Convicts

MEN APPEAR BEFORE TRIBUNAL IN PERSON

Barred cell doors of British Columbia's penal institutions will open to receive four more convicts who failed to impress the Court of Appeal with their ple for legal interference with the procedure of "the courts below," which pronounced sentences ranging from fifteen months to nine years.

Before the court yesterday morning, Frank Sorge, Alexander Titmuss, Frank A. Gloster and James Phillips persona.y presented their appeals with A. M. Johnson, K.C., special Crown prosecutor, acting in all cases for the Crown. All appeals were dismissed by the court.

The four men were brought over from Vancouver on Thursday afternoon, guarded by a squad of Provincial Police officers. In the courtroom they were relieved of their manacles, but each one of the appellants was carefully watched, especially Sorge, who is a long-term man and one of the party that escaped jail with William Bagley almost a month ago.

REX VERSUS GLOSTER

Frank A. Gloster an aged cripple on crutches, was first called. He based his appeal on the ground that the cheque with which he alleged he paid for an automobile was never presented for payment at the bank on which it was drawn. He also claimed that the markings on the cheque, produced in court yesterday, were not on the cheque when produced to the jury at his trial.

Chief Justice ... A. Macdonald remarked that it seemed two cars were involved in the transaction on which Gloster was convicted. "I do not think that the cheque has anything to do with this appeal," he said.

A. M. Johnson, K.C.: "No. The car involved in this case was taken away by the appellant and was not located until Gloster was arrested with it in Calgary."

Gloster maintained that the auto had been loaned to him and no time had been stated for its return. "The charge on which I was convicted hinges on the cheque, and if it had been presented, it would have been paid," appellant said.

The Chief Justice produced the cheque in question, which showed it had been presented at the bank and returned dishonored.

Appellant then ked for an adjournment until he could secure new evidence, which was denied by the court. Mr. Justice Martin asked if the cheque was relevant to the original charge, and Gloster made out that the presentation of the cheque at his trial had an influence on the jury.

The appeal was dismissed, the court agreeing the appellant had not made out his case.

Gloster had been sentenced to a term of imprisonment for false pretences in connection with the purchase of an automobile from a Vancouver dealer, for which the cheque was tendered, and the borrowing of another auto and taking it out of the province.

REX VERSUS SORGE

Frank Sorge, a young man of thirty-two, well dressed and well groomed, occupied only five minutes of the court's time. At the outset, he said he would waive his appeal against the conviction of four years, and desired to appeal against the sentence, which, he declared, he considered was unjust.

Chief Justice Macdonald: "But you have not been given leave to appeal from your sentence."

Appellant: "I thought I could appeal from the sentence. I was told that."

A. M. Johnson, K.C.: "Sorge was sentenced to four years for being in possession of dynamite and burglars' tools, and another four years for burglary."

The Chief Justice: "Appeal is dismissed."

REX VERSUS TITMUSS

Alexander Titmuss, Vancouver butcher, whose appeal was adjourned from January 14 to permit him to produce affidavits concerning alleged misconduct on the part of jurors at his trial, presented two documents, one from his wife and another from his mother, who claimed they heard two jurymen, L. G. Henderson and E. A. Paige, remark in the corridor of the Vancouver Court that the "judge had called Titmuss a liar." Titmuss said the jurors could not have known of that remark without having heard it from the public, as the jury was out of the room when the remark was made.

"Is that all you have to complain of?" asked Mr. Justice Martin. "Have you been injured by this conversation?"

The appellant stated he felt he was because the jurors must have discussed his case with someone in order to have been informed of the remark credited to the trial judge.

A. M. Johnson, K.C., met the appellant's affidavits with documents from the two jurors mentioned, in which they denied any knowledge of the conversation. Mr. Johnson read from a transcript of the evidence at the trial of Titmuss, and there was no reference to the trial judge having made the remark alleged by Titmuss.

The Chief Justice: "We have the evidence of the two jurymen on affidavit and they deny your allegations. There is nothing more to be said. The appeal is dismissed."

Titmuss endeavored to argue that "it was two affidavits against two," but the court declined to hear him. Titmuss is serving ...y-three months.

REX VERSUS PHILLIPS

James Phillips, serving a sentence of fifteen months for being in possession of stolen tools, appeared and requested to be allowed to abandon his appeal against conviction. His request was granted.

The four men were escorted from the courtroom and taken to police headquarters, and were then taken back to the Mainland to complete their sentences. The court proceeded with other work.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sittings

Re the Immigration Act—The King (R.) vs. Munetake Samejima (A.)—In this case an order for deportation had been quashed on the grounds that it had been worded irregularly. A subsequent order for deportation was upheld by the court.

The Court of Appeal (Martin and Macdonald, J.J.A., dissenting) held that the Immigration Board had acted within its jurisdiction and by Section 23 of the Immigration Act, the court was precluded from interfering.

Martin (J.A.) held that there was a violation of natural justice in that appellant was not permitted a rehearing by the board prior to the making of the second order. The judgment quashing the original order was not appealed from and was therefore final.

The court being evenly divided, the appeal was dismissed.

J. L. Clay for the Crown; C. H. O'Halloran for appellant.

Levy (A.) vs. Buchan Singh (R.)—Appellant sued as executrix of the estate of H. E. Isevy, for foreclosure of a mortgage over real estate. Respondent denied that he had ever borrowed from deceased on a mortgage. The action was dismissed.

Respondent's counsel submitted that there was no proof of the execution of the mortgage by respondent, as there was no evidence of identification.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment.

P. R. Leighton for appellant; R. C. Lowe for respondent.

Sanders (A.) vs. Begg Motor Co., Limited (R.)—Respondent sold a car to appellant under a conditional sales agreement. It was alleged that payments were in arrear and appellant authorized respondent to sell the car on his behalf. Respondent gave applicant notice of sale, and, with his approval sold the car.

Appellant claims that the car was not sold with his consent but under the sale notice. He questions the validity of the notice on the grounds that the time and place of sale were not stated and particulars of the amount due were not shown in sufficient detail.

The hearing of the appeal is continuing.

C. H. O'Halloran for appellant; W. H. Bullock-Webster for respondent.

APPEAL COURT CALLS BAGLEY

Badly Wanted Fugitive Fails to Answer Solemn Summons of Usher

The name of William Bagley, whose reputation is legion in the criminal records of police administration from Mexico to Alaska, and whose jail break almost a month ago caused a sensation throughout the province, resounded in the corridors of the courthouse here yesterday when his appeal was called by the Registrar of the Appeal Court of British Columbia.

Bagley is still at liberty.

But the Court of Appeal does not officially know it. Therefore the regular procedure was followed. The court usher was instructed by the chief justice, J. A. Macdonald, to call "William Bagley" three times in the corridors.

"It is not likely he will answer," remarked the Chief Justice.

The court usher solemnly announced "No response," and A. M. Johnson, K.C., Crown prosecutor, made formal application for dismissal of the appeal. The court was unanimous in dismissing Bagley's belated application.

Dismissal of the Bagley appeal ended the list of criminal work of the Appeal Court, with the exception of a personal appeal from James McDonald, sentenced at Vernon on January 15 to two years for being in possession of housebreaking tools. This application will be heard Monday, which will be the last day of the court's Victoria sitting.

Bandit Fires Shot to Announce His Arrival

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29.—Firing a shot into the air to announce his arrival, a bandit held up T. Konnami, Hudson Avenue, at an early hour tonight and escaped.

Two men were implicated in the robbery. One man stayed in an automobile while his partner committed the holdup.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SOLICIT HELP FOR HOSPITAL

Directors of Royal Jubilee Meet City Council and Request Aid

The public works committee of the City Council, which includes all the members of the body, heard the appeal of the Royal Jubilee Hospital Board for assistance at the meeting held yesterday afternoon. The objective of the board is that a deficit of some $46,000 should be assumed by the council, and in addition, starting with a clean slate, that there should be a $5,000 grant a month to help in the work.

H. H. Shandley, the president of the board, and other members admitted it was a difficult matter to say positively or even very approximately what the requirements for the coming year would be. In the work of the hospital the sick had to be taken care of. If they had not the money to pay they could not be precluded from entering the institution, although every effort was made to collect, they pointed out.

If the grant was made on the basis of $5,000 a month, and it were found later in the year that the board could get along with less money, Mr. Forman, who had long been on the board, said he would be only too glad to take a reduction in the amount.

COSTLY METHOD

Running as they were at present with a shortage of money to meet the accounts as they came due, meant that they had to pay more for the supplies than would otherwise be the case.

Mayor David Leeming, as a suggestion, asked if it would be acceptable, if the council, owing to the situation faced this year, made a grant that would take care of half of the money which would be required to discharge the amount owing and allow the remainder to stand over for another year.

Mr. Shandley was ready to accept any arrangement that would give relief. At the same time he felt that it might be better to make a levy of one mill and dispose of the back debts and get a new start.

DRIVE FOR FUNDS

The drive for funds was alluded to, but it was pointed out that it was impossible to tell what would be obtained from it. Mr. Forman was of the opinion that there would be a cut of about 5 per cent in the number who would be able to pay their bills this year.

The matter was referred to the finance committee of the council which will take up the project of hospital help on Monday, so that the matter may come before the City Council later.

Ald. R. T. Williams advocated as the proper way of dealing with the hospital, the enactment of laws allowing a sweepstake to be permitted for such institutions.

The Japanese Government will hold officials of the Chinese Eastern Railway, jointly owned by Russia and China, responsible for holding up the movement of reinforcements toward Harbin, Manchuria, where two Chinese armies have been battling, official sources revealed.

FORBIDDEN BY MOSCOW

This ultimatum followed information from Consul-General Chashi at Harbin saying that the Russian manager of the railway, acting on instructions from Moscow, had forbidden the sending of Japanese troops over the line from the northern terminus of the South Manchurian Railway at Changchun to Harbin.

In this connection, a Rengo News Agency dispatch from Changchun reported that the Japanese would themselves begin operations on the Changchun-Harbin branch tomorrow to combat the passive resistance of Chinese and Russian trainmen.

PUT UP TO CHINA

MOSCOW, Jan. 29 (AP).—Whether Russia will allow Japanese troops to be transported to Harbin over the Chinese Eastern Railway—jointly owned by China and Russia—was, in effect, put up to China today.

This decision was communicated to Japanese Ambassador Koki Hirohita by Assistant Commissar for Foreign Affairs Karakhan. The ambassador called on the commissar to explain that the Japanese command had found it necessary to avail itself of the Chinese Eastern for a troop movement in connection with "a rebellion of Chinese troops in the region of Harbin." The ambassador declared soldiers were needed to protect Japanese citizens and their property in an area menaced by two conflicting factions of Chinese forces.

TO PAY INDEMNITY

M. Hirota said his Government had no intention of violating the Chinese Eastern, and added that Tokio was ready to pay an indemnity for use of the line. He had called, he explained, to "avoid any misunderstanding by the Soviet Government."

M. Karakhan replied that the fact that the Japanese authorities had appealed to the Russian president of the board of the Chinese Eastern for permission to carry troops twelve hours after soldiers had been entrained at Kuanshentzu "might lead to a misunderstanding."

He remarked that the acceptance of that action as proper depended not only on the Soviet Government but also on the Chinese authorities who jointly operate the road, and added that it cannot be forgotten that the Chinese Eastern passes across Chinese territory.

If the Chinese authorities find it possible to transport Japanese troops toward the Harbin region, the Soviet Government, on its side, has no reasons to create obstacles under absolute conditions that the interests of the Chinese Eastern Railway will not be violated, the Foreign Commissar said.

JAPAN IN SHANGHAI

Japan's intervention in Shanghai to protect her nationals is an event which has attracted world attention as nothing else has in a military sense since the Great War. No Power in modern times is more jealous of the rights of her citizens than Japan. What she has considered it her duty to do in China is an answer to all other Powers who have been temporizing with the decision of the Nationalist Government of Nanking to abolish extraterritoriality. As well as the duty of protecting the life, limb and property of Japanese, wherever assailed in China, there are reasons to believe that the drastic action in course of progress in Shanghai is also devised to put an end to the Chinese boycott of Japanese goods. Officially, if not by declaration, China is at war with Japan. This has been an actual fact ever since the regular troops of the Nationalist Government have been in conflict with the Japanese. There is no use burking the facts of the situation. The League of Nations has proved powerless in preventing this war. It may be equally powerless in setting limitations to its progress.

Japan has thrown both her naval and military strength into the struggle. She has occupied and controls Manchuria, because, in the first place, the Nanking Government would not put an end to the acts of banditry which were inflicting losses on Japanese interests in that province. Japan has been unable to enter into direct negotiations with China to effect a settlement of the difficulties that exist between the two nations. It is her intention to settle those difficulties by direct negotiation and on the basis of certain prerequisites that she has laid down. She is determined that her trade will not be partially ruined by the passive action of a boycott on the part of China's 400,000,000 people. She is more determined still that her nationals in China shall not be discriminated against and made the subject of attack. Her intention, as well, is to give fully adequate protection to her property interests wherever they are situated. These are considerations which are the legitimate right of any Power, whether in peace or war. Japan is at war with China. Her actions may, according to some interpretations, bear the earmarks of aggression, but, according to her own viewpoint, she believes in aggressive warfare.

Japan, nearest to the scene, and enjoying for a long time the fullest knowledge on the subject, knows better than any of the Powers what conditions are in China. She has seen that country racked asunder by internecine strife. Not only Japanese interests but those of every other great Power have suffered, despite international treaties. No agreement was possible whereby all the Powers would act as a unit in demanding safeguards for their nationals and their interests in Chinese territory. Japan's patience became exhausted. She determined to act as her own policeman in China and is taking the full consequences. The probability is that she would not have extended her operations beyond the confines of Manchuria if China had been willing to enter into peaceful negotiations regarding the future of that province. Instead, however, the Nationalist Government at Nanking, perhaps because of its weakness, was unable to stem the tide of anti-Japanese feeling. It pursued a policy of vacillation. Without declaring war on Japan it failed to prevent acts of aggression against Japanese citizens and a campaign of open hostility. This culminated in happenings at Shanghai. Now the native quarter of that city has been subjected to punitive incursions by marines and aerial bombardment.

To the extent, if any, that Japanese action in Shanghai may come into conflict with foreign interests, the latest development in the Japanese campaign will arouse a new international preoccupation. Normally speaking, because Japan is at war with China, the other Powers should be mainly concerned with the protection of international rights. The situation, however, is fraught with a great deal of difficulty. There may be no fear that rights within the international settlement will be affected, because Japanese troops form a part of the international guard within that area. With a Japanese fleet standing by and her marines in possession of strategic points of the city there must remain danger of trying situations arising, in which difficulty may be experienced in preventing the other Powers from becoming involved. Britain, France and the United States, as well as Japan, have considerable interests in the port. They are represented by troops in the international settlement and by war vessels in the stream. The duty of these is to give the utmost protection to their nationals. There is delicacy in the situation that has arisen, such as always must prevail under similar conditions.

The war between Japan and China, touching as it does so many international interests, must necessarily exert its influence on the course of the Disarmament Conference which opens at Geneva next week. That gathering will not assemble under happy auspices. The shadow of war is not a healthy atmosphere in which to discuss a reduction in what nations may do to insure their national security. It will require a rare display of international statesmanship if actual results on the lines proposed are to grow out of the Geneva gathering. Possibly whatever is done will be determined by the course of events in the Chino-Japanese hostilities, and what that course will be no one can prophesy at this time. If those hostilities are prolonged they may conceivably mean an adjournment of the Disarmament Conference. In the meantime China is appealing to the Powers, and particularly to Britain and the United States, to use their influence and strength to bring about such a settlement as will lead to Japan withdrawing from Shanghai.

OVERLOADING THE CURRICULUM

Within recent years there are few subjects that have been written upon so widely, about which so many varied expressions of opinion have been voiced, and on which there has been so much controversy, as education. The feeling that has grown is that, despite the gratifying spread of education to the masses, the functions of government are not flowing any more freely; that, in fact, the growing range of intelligence in the voice of the electorate has simply meant a further cluttering up of the statute books with laws which cabin, crib and confine. It may all resolve itself into an explanation of how dangerous a little learning may be, or else those who rise to the surface of political action do not connote that intelligence with which the masses are now supposed to be endowed. What is certain is that there still remains a large question mark regarding the course of education being pursued. If all was for the best in the best of all educational systems the subject would have ceased to occupy the place it does in the realm of controversy.

Perhaps, when all is said and done, the great fault of any educational system is the overloading of the curriculum. Like the building of golf courses, with a sole eye to what the professionals and scratch players can accomplish, the educational system more and more tends to be devised and framed to meet the capacities of unusual intelligence on the part of the students. That is one result which criticism of educational systems has tended to bring about. Dr. C. A. Alington, the headmaster of Eton, says, "The harassed schoolmaster grossly overloads his curriculum, starving every subject of its proper quantity of hours in a vain attempt to propitiate criticism. He puts an entirely exaggerated value on knowledge as such. There are very few things indeed that we can say with certainty that everyone ought to know." Then Dr. Alington gives his own views on the subject of what a general education should be. We quote:

"He (the student) must know mathematics in the sense that he must be able to add, divide and subtract with reasonable accuracy. He must know enough of his own language to understand it when used by others and to employ it himself. When we have said this I believe we have exhausted the demands we have a right to make. Our fundamental error is to teach all subjects in the same way, and that the way which leads to expert knowledge. We have no regard whatever for the average man who is not intended to be an expert. Our examinations are too often of the type which is clever, and are not—as they should be—adapted to the average boy."

All well-informed opinion in Britain is persuaded that the coming Imperial Conference will result in a widespread system of mutual preferences in which all countries of the Empire will benefit. It is not the fault of the Dominions that such a desirable consummation was not brought about long ago. It was Britain's adhesion to the doctrine of free trade. That fetish is now on the eve of being abolished and a new spirit of co-operation is at work, a spirit which must spell success when the conference assembles at Ottawa next July.

Britain's Licensing Commission, after two years' work, has brought down a recommendation favoring public ownership, which, in the case of liquor, means Government Control. It is quite another matter as to whether Britain will adopt this principle. It has been proved a better promoter of temperance than Prohibition, but Britain is at present restive under the amount of government control she has had in other directions.

BRIGHT HORSEMAN

Darkness stands ear-pricked, poised, champing its icy snaffle,
Pawing the cold electric straw of its airy stall.
Darkness whinnies through space; no rare sky-stuff can baffle.
Its sharp and delicate hoofs, precisely placing their fall.

Who will conquer darkness, who will mount this black stallion?
From the East comes the glorious rider. His checkreins are ablaze.
White flame leaps from his bridle; his saddle—a glowing medallion:
And darkness sees and trembles; darkness, broken, obeys.

—Miriam Allen De Ford, in Poetry.

For want of self-restraint many men are engaged all their lives in fighting with difficulties of their own making, and rendering success impossible by their own cross-grained ungentleness; whilst others, it may be much less gifted, make their way and achieve success by simple patience, equanimity and self-control.—Samuel Smiles.

What most increases anger is the feeling that one is in the wrong.—Jean Paul Richter.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Conscience has no more to do with gallantry than it has with politics.—Sheridan.

There is a saying, based upon high authority, that love of money is the root of all evil. But that is an old saying, and may be out of date. The modern saying is that nationalism is the root of all the evils which at present afflict the world, supplemented by many declarations that internationalism alone can effect the salvation of the world. Yet the people of the world are strangely inconsistent. If nationalism is an evil thing and a dangerous, why are the Liberal newspapers of Canada and the advanced thinkers of Canada who call themselves philosophers and lovers of humanity clamoring for a Canadian national flag, following up their granted demand for Canadian national independence? And why is there so much rabid opposition displayed by those Liberal politicians and advanced thinkers to the formation of a League of British Nations?

We have never had a great deal of faith in the League of Nations; but there may be possibilities for good in that League, although thus far we cannot see that it has accomplished very much for the healing of the nations. If there are possibilities for good in a League of Nations which thus far has not accomplished much for the unification of the nations, may there not be some possibilities for something better in the formation of a League of British Nations, just as while a part may not be as good as the whole, a part is better than nothing at all? If a league of British Nations were formed, the idea might be extended if other nations, observing the good which had been accomplished by the federation, displayed a desire to come in and become partakers in its benefits.

The Liberals of England, led by The Manchester Guardian, the free trade oracle, discussing the prospects of the formation of a British League of Nations, assert that the great obstacle to preferential trade between Great Britain and the Overseas Dominions is that in all trade agreements the principle of give and take must be maintained; that in order to sell there must be willingness to buy. That declaration of an alleged principle has been adopted by all the Liberal newspapers of Canada, which are printing it daily. The Liberals of Canada also are repeating it daily just as a parrot articulates more or less distinctly words that are put in its mouth by human instructors. The Liberal polly has been crying for a cracker, and believes it has got it.

Of course there must be mutual exchanges of products if business is to be done; but the mutual exchanges must be made upon fair terms if business is to be done upon mutually profitable terms. Owing to the universality of tariffs in the existing state of the business of the world, exchanges of trade have been curtailed because they cannot be carried on upon a mutually profitable basis. All nations are trying to dictate the terms upon which they will do business with their national neighbors. There are no prospects whatever of any change in this international attitude, for tariffs are like taxes; they are going up higher everywhere, and there are no prospects of their coming down lower.

Statesmen of Great Britain have been trying for fifty years to convert the statesmen of other nations to their views on trade and business. But the statesmen of other nations cannot be convinced that they have erred in their policy or their principles. They are joined to their protectionist idols, and point with pride to what their false or true gods, as the case may be, have done for them. So after more than fifty years of experience, British statesmen (Lord Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel, and one or two others excepted) have decided that the terms upon which their country shall do business with other countries must not be dictated from the capital of the United States or from the capitals of any nations; that for a change they will assume the position of dictators; they have turned to the Dominions and will enter into preferential trade relations with them.

Naturally The Manchester Guardian is terribly dismayed at the prospect of the formation of a League of British Nations, and is conjuring up from its free trade imagination all sorts of insurmountable obstacles to such a consummation. Unnaturally the Liberal newspapers of Canada are printing reports of the obstacles conjured up by The Guardian. One would naturally assume that a preference for Canadian wheat on the markets of Great Britain would be considered good news for at least one Canadian newspaper, The Winnipeg Free Press, whose own prosperity depends on the prosperity of the Prairie farmer; but our Manitoba contemporary prints with apparent joy the opinion of The Guardian that there can be no British preference for Canadian wheat or other Canadian agricultural products because the interests of Argentina and the Scandinavian nations must first be considered. Unnaturally, the song of The Guardian becomes a general Liberal chorus of rejoicing at the prospect of the alleged protests of Argentina and the Scandinavian countries knocking a spoke out of the wheel of the pending Economic Conference at Ottawa. But then Liberal prospects are so hopeless in Britain and Canada that no indiscretions can make them more hopeless.

TOOK EXCEPTION TO VIEWS SHOWN

Mr. Justice Martin Believed Old Country Pictures Were Out of Place in Local Bureau

In a letter read before the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau directors, yesterday, Mr. Justice Martin objected to the display of pictures showing attractive places in Great Britain and Ireland which had been given a place in the windows of the Publicity Bureau. His objections were based upon the fact that the contributions made to the local body were for the purpose of attracting travelers to come here. The money was spent to foster home products.

The letter sent in reply to His Lordship was read, which set out that the pictures were contributed by the Travel Association of Great Britain and Ireland. This organization, the letter of George I. Warren stated, was one that directed travel this way as one of its functions. It was the policy to work in harmony with all bodies that directed travel this way and hence the pictures were placed on display.

Copies of advertising that the C.P.R. was using through the agency of H. F. Mathews, general manager of Western hotels, setting out the attractions offered at the coming C.P.R. golf tournament, were displayed before the meeting.

Alderman W. D. Todd offered the suggestion that an attempt might be made early in the season to direct travel this way by united action being taken by the citizens in sending out to acquaintances attractive postcards to, say, ten people, suggesting they visit Victoria.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning. The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

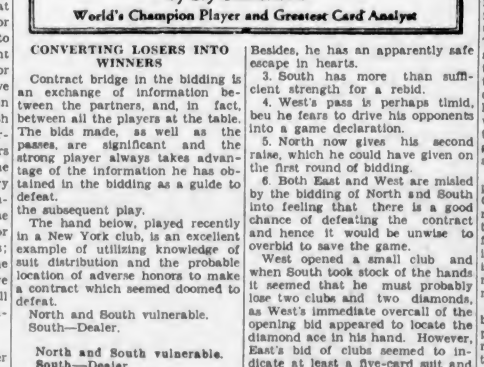
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

CONVERTING LOSERS INTO WINNERS

Contract bridge in the bidding is an exchange of information between the partners, and, in fact, between all the players at the table. The bids made, as well as the passes, are significant and the strong player always takes advantage of the information he has obtained in the bidding as a guide to defeat the subsequent play.

The hand below, played recently in a New York club, is an excellent example of utilizing knowledge of suit distribution and the probable location of adverse honors to make a contract which seemed doomed to defeat.

North and South vulnerable. South—Dealer.



The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♠	2♡	2♠(1)	3♣(2)
2♠(3)	Pass(4)	4♠(5)	Pass(6)
Pass	Pass

1. North's raise is conservative. Actually his hand contains five playing tricks with spades as trump and hence two raises.

2. East, not vulnerable, has a justifiable overcall, as any loss might be offset by the honor count. Besides, he has an apparently safe escape in hearts.

3. South has more than sufficient strength for a rebid.

4. West's pass is perhaps timid, but he fears to drive his opponents into a game declaration.

5. North now gives his second raise, which he could have given on the first round of bidding.

6. Both East and West are misled by the bidding of North and South into feeling that there is a good chance of defeating the contract and hence it would be unwise to overbid to save the game.

West opened a small club and when South took stock of the hands it seemed that he must probably lose two clubs and two diamonds, as West's immediate overcall of the opening bid appeared to locate the diamond ace in his hand. However, East's bid of clubs seemed to indicate at least a five-card suit and so South played the hand on this assumption. He permitted the first round of clubs to be won by East's king and East returned the suit, the trick being taken by the ace in dummy. A small diamond was immediately led from dummy and when East played low, South played the eight and West won with the ten. West was faced with a lack of desirable leads, but led the king of hearts, which South won with the ace, and next led the king of diamonds, which West, of course, won. A heart was returned and trumped in the dummy and the third round of diamonds led, establishing two good diamonds in the dummy. The adverse trumps were drawn and a losing club discarded on dummy's good diamond.

By accurate reading of the adverse holdings, South had reduced his losing tricks by one and thus made his contract.

BUILDING WORK DRAWS PROTEST

Saanich Residents Would Preserve Area Near Gorge and Harriet Roads

A largely signed petition from residents in the area near the corner of Gorge and Harriet Roads, protesting against the erection of commercial buildings in the district, as they are anxious to keep it strictly a residential area, was received and filed at a meeting of the Saanich Council Thursday night.

The document stated that there was property of considerable value in the vicinity and the residents did not want this reduced by the erection of commercial buildings.

GIVES VERBAL REPORT

Reeve William Crouch gave a brief verbal report of the recent meeting of the delegation from the Union of British Columbia Municipalities with members of the Provincial Government. The general opinion of a large majority of the delegates had been that the present system of direct relief was too much like the dole system, he declared.

Goods valued at $2,005 had been distributed during the past three weeks in direct relief in the municipality, it was learned at the meeting.

A request from the Union of Canadian Municipalities for the annual membership fee of $25 was received and left over until the estimates have been considered.

DELEGATES NAMED

Reeve Crouch and Councillors Dennis Hoare and W. F. Somers, with Councillor Fred Borden as alternate, were appointed to represent Saanich at the meetings of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities during the coming session of the Provincial Legislature.

Francis Simpson was re-elected as a representative of the council on the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria, when it was learned that his three-year term had expired.

The annual Loan By-Law, No. 467, was given final reading by the council.

"MADE IN CANADA"

Sir,—While walking round the various stores this morning, I noticed in some of them on the various counters signs bearing these words: "Made in Canada"; and I thought what an excellent idea to bring before the public goods that are made in our own country. Now, if all our stores would do this, and everyone who has any money to spend would insist on having "Made in Canada" goods, there would soon be a very noticeable decrease in unemployment and depression. It is only a small patriotic duty, but the results would work wonders for Canada. Let's all try it.

MACHINES VS. HAND LABOR

Sir,—A news item appeared a few days ago stating that one of our city fathers had advocated replacing the mechanical street sweeper by hand labor. It was claimed that it would be cheaper, but was turned down on the score that it would be a return to old-fashioned ways.

It is to be presumed that he figures given were correct. If this is the case, why in heaven's name don't we revert to hand labor and find an avenue for the useful employment of eighteen men? Even if hand labor costs more, I imagine that it would be a saving if we consider that it takes eighteen men off direct relief.

In the case of steam shovels or other mechanical contrivances used by Government or municipal authorities, they should be yarded for the time being, and replaced by hand labor if the cost of the work done does not exceed cost by machine plus value of direct relief. Every man employed has more money to spend on food, etc., bought locally, and circulates here. Money spent for gasoline for the machines goes in a large part to the United States. Why not try to create employment along these lines?

GASOLINE TAX

Sir,—With regard to Mr. H. W. Price's letter which appeared in The Daily Times of the 27th inst., dealing with the matter of increased gasoline tax, may I be permitted to submit, for the information of Mr. Price and the public, the fact that the Automobile Club of British Columbia has been extremely active in protecting the interests of motorists in this regard for some considerable time. On November 24 a large and influential delegation from the Automobile Club of British Columbia interviewed the Provincial Cabinet and registered emphatic opposition to any increase in the gasoline tax, and also requested that serious consideration be given to an adjustment of motor licence fees, which would lessen the taxation burden now carried by motorists. Following this, on December 16, a public meeting was held by the Automobile Club in the Chamber of Commerce, at which time the whole situation was reviewed by Mr. A. R. McFarlane, manager of the club, and the representations already made by the club to the Government were endorsed. Ample publicity was given by the newspapers regarding the holding of this meeting, and, as it was not restricted to members of the Automobile Club, any interested person could have attended and have had the opportunity of ascertaining all information regarding the efforts of the club in this direction.

As the only recognized representative of the motorists of the province, the Automobile Club has championed their cause for many years, having in the past obtained many benefits for motorists generally. It was the Automobile Club of British Columbia that represented the motorists and secured a reduction of 25 per cent in motor licence fees at the time of the introduction of the first gasoline tax. The saving to motorists in this item alone has amounted to more than two million dollars. One year ago the Automobile Club instituted a campaign to secure cheaper gasoline, following which this commodity was reduced from thirty-five cents to thirty cents and the motorist generally has enjoyed that saving since.

On several occasions during the past three years the Automobile Club has urged upon the Government the advisability of changing the date for the issuing of licences from December 31, and while nothing definite has been done yet, it is confidently felt that in time the representations of the club in this regard will bear fruit.

The officers, directors and members of the club still regard the price of gasoline as excessive, and representations have been made to the Government urging that an inquiry be made into the whole matter of the production and marketing of this commodity in Canada.

With regard to the petition which motorists have been asked to sign at Imperial Oil Company stations, may I point out that it has been placed there in order to facilitate the obtaining of signatures. The petition actually is a resolution which was prepared by the Automobile Club and endorsed by a meeting of representatives of a large number of organizations in the city of Vancouver, which meeting was convened by the Vancouver branch of the club. Motorists are informed that this petition is also available for signature at branch offices of the club and anyone interested may call there and sign it.

The club sincerely appreciates the facilities so kindly provided by the gas stations, and hopes that every motorist will take advantage of the opportunity to sign the petition in order that it shall be a convincing reflection of public opinion in this regard.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

FOR FREEDOM

I would not have a caged bird
To flutter all day long
In struggling for the open fields
And its mate's song.

I could not bear to see its wings,
Its painted wings so gay,
Assailing hour by hour the bars
Through day on day.

I could not keep one little life,
One thing that breathes and moves,
Shut in a shining cage away
From all it loves.

O Power that orders stars and suns
Like pity take on me,
And weld no bars of circumstance,
But leave me free!

CITY WILL RESUME LAYING OF PIPES IN RELIEF PROGRAMME

The City Council, sitting as the public works committee yesterday afternoon, adopted the report presented to it from the finance committee, which calls for the continuation of the pipe laying in connection with the city's programme. The finance committee had a report from the engineer to the effect that the present weather had the effect of causing the pipe line, which had been already excavated, to cave in. Moreover the pipe along the route was liable to suffer by becoming cracked if frosty weather set in.

The recommendation calls for the putting of 300 men at work on this on shifts as a means of relieving the unemployment. The men will be employed for five days a week on the old system prevailing.

Coal Exported—During the past year British Columbia shipped more coal to San Francisco than any of her competitors, with the exception of Great Britain. The amount of fuel imported from this province totaled 151,766 tons.

Drowning—Two white men and two Indians were drowned yesterday while crossing the Fraser River, opposite New Westminster. The two white men were Thomas Lewis, of Sumas, and William Gillanders, of Chilliwack.

MOUNT DOUGLAS PARK PROBLEM TO BE AIRED BEFORE ACTION TAKEN

Before beginning a threatened suit against the city in the matter of a dispute relative to Mount Douglas Park, F. A. Graham agreed, yesterday afternoon that he would meet the Mayor and discuss the whole matter, and also later meet the Council on the subject.

When he appeared before the public works committee, yesterday, it was intimated to Mr. Graham that he could only have ten minutes to go into the matter. He objected that it was useless to try and do justice to the matter in less than an hour and a half.

During the ten minutes alloted him, the members of the committee took serious objection when reference was made by Mr. Graham to letters of the City Council to the Government.

When the Mayor said there were too many pressing matters to be disposed of by the Council to take longer with the matter in dispute, Mr. Graham said he would then have to go to court. He agreed, however, to delay until later, when the matter could be gone into.

PUBLICITY HAS PAYING RESULT

Mayor Shows How Tourists Are Attracted by Advertising

The sum of $2,550 will be contributed by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to the work of the Puget Sounders and British Columbians Associated, this year, provided the other contributors to the work carried out by the organization, meet their share of the $33,000 which has been allocated. This was decided upon by the bureau at its meeting yesterday, after the plans for the season had been explained.

Mayor David Leeming, who had attended the annual meeting of the organization in Seattle, declared that he regarded the activities of the association as one of the very best means employed in the attracting of tourist travel here. His Worship said that it was well exemplified at the meeting how the use of publicity paid in this tourist line. It had been shown that the places that had used advertising had maintained their travel reasonably well up to what it had formerly been, while the opposite characterized the dropping of publicity.

The Mayor explained that it had been decided to make use of The Saturday Evening Post as a medium again. This year the advertising would be along a somewhat different line, however. There would be four areas representing the Pacific Coast. In this, the Puget Sounders and British Columbians would take care of the northern section.

Victoria's share of this advertising would again be $325, it was explained by George I. Warren, publicity commissioner. He also said that Victoria would have a place at the head of the page and would have three views at least in the total display.

Seeks to Prevent Deportation From Canada to China

Application for a writ of habeas corpus and certiorari to prevent deportation from Canada has been made to the Supreme Court of British Columbia by O'Halloran & Harvey, solicitors for Sue Son Poy, now under detention by the Canadian Immigration here. The application will be heard on February 17.

Sue Son Poy claims he came to Canada in 1917 and was married in British Columbia to a Chinese woman, born in the province. He admits he has made several visits to his native land to see his relatives, but it has always been his intention to permanently reside in British Columbia.

In his application, Sue Son Poy claims the Immigration has no jurisdiction to deport him and that no deportation order deporting him to China has ever been made out by a board of inquiry or any other competent authority.

REPORTS SHOW MUCH ACTIVITY

Annual Meeting of St. Andrew's Church Reveals Work Being Done by Members

As a climax to a very successful year's work, members of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their annual meeting in the schoolroom this week. The gathering commenced with a supper, convened by the members of the Women's Guild, after which the members adjourned to the main classroom, where the business meeting took place.

Reports from the following committees were submitted: Women's Guild, board of management, mission and benevolence committee, Women's Missionary Society, Young Women's Missionary Society, Sunday School, Young People's Society, Tuxis Rangers and the choir. All these reports showed that splendid work was being done in all departments of the church.

New trustees elected were: D. D. Muir, A. Cruickshank, W. Paterson, Colonel J. Scroggie and J. McIntosh.

Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell, the pastor, presided.

Sustaining a broken leg after being pinned between a large stone and the wheel of a truck while he was working on Observatory Road at Little Saanich Mountain, William E. Harrison, 3041 Orchard Way, was removed to the Jubilee Hospital yesterday morning, where he is now resting comfortably.

Chief Allen Rankin and Constable P. Cummings, of the Saanich police force, on arriving at the scene of the accident, discovered that Mr. Harrison's leg had been injured when the truck had been backing into an excavation to load material.

PASSES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Emily Richards, Resident Here Since 1912, Succumbs in Hospital

A long and painful illness was terminated by the death of Mrs. Emily Richards, of 1144 Yates Street, who passed away yesterday afternoon at the Jubilee Hospital, where she has been a patient for the past two months.

Mrs. Richards was born in Bristol and lived in England until the family removed here. She has been a resident of Victoria for nearly nineteen years, and in that time has made a wide circle of friends through her cheerful and friendly disposition, which not even her serious ill-health of the last year seemed to affect. She was a popular member of Victoria Lodge No. 17, Order of the Eastern Star, and a member and regular attendant of the Metropolitan United Church, in which she was, until her illness, an active worker also and affectionately esteemed by her associates.

In addition to her husband, F. W. Richards, of Vancouver, she is survived by two daughters and two sons, Mrs. George McMorran, of Cordova Bay, and Miss Muriel Richards; Percy C. BIG MONEY

by P. G. Wodehouse

"You'd have laughed if you had heard what their idea of doing something for me was," proceeded the Captain. "They asked me if there wasn't anybody I wanted bumped off. If there was, they said, they would be proud and happy to do it for me free of charge, just to show their gratitude and keep their hand in."

Mr. Hoke may have laughed, but if so, he did it inaudibly. He lowered his fork and gazed at his companion in a rather strained way.

"Bumped off?" he said in a thin voice.

"Bumped off," said the Captain. "Didn't I mention," he went on, with a glance of mild surprise at his companion's drooping jaw, "that they were gunmen?"

"Gug?" said Mr. Hoke.

CHAPTER XXII

"Yes," Captain Kelly went on. "Gunmen. And rather well known, I believe, over on the other side. What they call Chicago gorillas. Extraordinary chaps! Just a couple of great big happy schoolboys. Fancy wanting to repay hospitality by coshing somebody who had done your host a bad turn. It amused me."

He chuckled to show that he still found the pretty fancy entertaining.

"Well, I mustn't waste the whole day talking to you," said Captain Kelly, rising.

"Hey!" said Mr. Hoke. "Wait!"

The captain resumed his seat. Mr. Hoke swallowed painfully.

"Guys like that ought to be in jail," he said, with feeling.

Captain Kelly nodded lightly.

"They were for a day or two," he said, "that time they shot Joe Frascati in Chicago. They let them out, though: Still, they had to come here till it blew over."

"Shush-shot him?" quavered Mr. Hoke.

"Bless you," said the captain, "that's nothing in Chicago. You ought to know that, coming from the other side. Well, as I was saying, they wanted to oblige me, and by a bit of bad luck I happened to mention the way you had done me down. You never saw two fellows so worked up. Big-hearted, that's what they are. You can say what you like about these gunmen, but they stick up for their friends. You were one of the things they wanted to stick up," said Captain Kelly, chuckling at the pleasantry.

Mr. Hoke became vociferous.

"Stick me up? What for? I've not done nothing. You don't suppose I was really planning to do you down, do you—an old friend like you? I was just kidding you, captain, to get your goat. I wanted to see how you'd take it."

"Well, you saw," said the captain briefly. "And now I really must be going. I promised to meet those two at the club."

"Wait!" said Mr. Hoke. "Wait! Wait!"

He gulped.

"You get your half share all right," he said. "I'll give you a letter to that effect, if you like. Write it now, if you want me to."

Something that was very near to being a pleased smile flitted across the captain's face.

"I should," he said. "I know it would please these boys."

"I've a fountain pen," said Mr. Hoke, thickly. "And here's a bit of paper that will do."

He scribbled feverishly. Captain Kelly examined the document, seemed contented with it, and put it carefully away in his pocket.

"I'll be at the club all the afternoon," he said, rising. "Only got to look in at Somerset House to get this stamped."

He walked in a leisurely manner to the door. And Mr. Hoke, his appetite no longer what it had been, stopped eating steak and called for coffee and a double brandy.

It was as he reached the point in his cigar where a good smoker permits himself the first breaking of the ash that J. B. Hoke became aware that his privacy had once more been invaded. Standing beside his table was the young man who had been lunching with Berry Conway. This young man was eyeing him meaningly.

It disturbed Mr. Hoke.

Mentally, at this moment, J. R. Hoke was a little below par. His nervous system had lost tone. And as he met the Biscuit's eye, there came to him abruptly the recollection that this was the man who, according to young Conway, had shown such an interest in the Dream Come True.

"Well?" said Mr. Hoke, belligerently. He found the other's scrutiny irritating. "Well?"

The young man's gaze narrowed.

"Hoke," he said in a low, steady voice, "I know your secret!"

On the sofa in his palatial apartment on the second floor of Grosvenor House, T. Patterson Frisby lay and stared at the ceiling. Extraordinary things were happening inside Mr. Frisby. He had been eating roast duck again.

What was going on in T. Patterson's interior resembled in some degree a stormy shareholders' meeting. Nasty questions were being asked. Voices were being raised. At times it seemed as though actual violence had broken out. And the pepsin tablets which he kept swallowing so hopefully were accomplishing nothing.

"Ouch!" said Mr. Frisby, as a new spasm racked him.

It was thus that Berry found him.

Berry was feeling a little disturbed himself. The pleasure of the Biscuit's society had caused him to prolong his luncheon beyond its customary limits; and on his return to the office there had been a succession of visitors anxious to see Mr. Frisby. There was only another fifteen minutes before the hour of his tryst with Ann at the Hyde Park tea house. As he entered the room he was looking fussily at his watch.

"Well . . ." began Mr. Frisby, half rising from his bed of pain.

It had been his intention to continue the speech at some length. But even as he uttered that "Well," his visitor spoke.

"I can only give you a minute," he said.

It affords a striking proof of the superiority of mind over matter that at these words Mr. Frisby completely forgot that he was a sick man. A sudden lull fell on that shareholders' meeting inside him. So great was his emotion that he sprang from the sofa like a jumping bean.

"I'm sorry, said Berry, "but I've promised to go and feed the ducks on the Serpentine."

It was undoubtedly that fatal word "ducks" that struck Mr. Frisby dumb. Nothing else could have withheld him from the most eloquent address that had ever scorched a private secretary's ear. But at the sound of that word everything inside him seemed suddenly to come alive again. The shareholders' meeting was on once more in all its pristine violence.

Mr. Frisby sank back onto the sofa and reached feebly for the pepsin bottle.

"As a matter of fact," proceeded Berry, "I only looked in to tell you that I am resigning my position. But you will be all right," he added kindly. "You can phone to an agency to send you up a stenographer to attend to these letters, and you can always get another secretary in half an hour. And now," he said, "I'm afraid I really must rush. I've got to be at the tea house in the park in five minutes."

He hurried out, feeling that he had conducted the delicate business of resignation in a tactful and considerate manner. He raced for the door of the suite and reached it just as it was being opened by Mr. Frisby's man for the admittance of a new visitor.

The new arrival was no stranger to him, though he supposed he was to her. It was Lady Vera Mace. Berry was never quite sure how he stood with Lady Vera in the matter of bowing or smiling or other form of intimacy. Eleven years ago she had visited her nephew, Lord Biskerton, at school, and he, Berry, as the Biscuit's best friend, had been included in the subsequent festivities; but, though in his own memory this affair still remained green, the party of the second part had evidently forgotten it entirely. On the one occasion when they had met since that distant date, in Mr. Frisby's outer office when she had called to discuss the chaperoning of Ann, she had given no sign of recognition.

So now he claimed no acquaintance. He stood to one side to allow her to pass. And as she passed her eyes fell on him, and he was surprised to see them light up suddenly, as if in recognition. And what surprised him more was that the light in those eyes was not merely that of recognition but of fear and dislike.

But he had no time to worry himself about it now. He dismissed the matter from his mind and ran down the stairs. All he was thinking of now was that in another five minutes he would be meeting Ann again.

Lady Vera Mace was a dignified woman; she seldom hurried. But such was the emotion with which the sight of Berry had filled her that, as she crossed the threshold of Mr. Frisby's sitting-room, she was positively running. The desire to receive some explanation of the presence in the financier's suite of one whom she had come to look upon as London's leading adventurer accelerated her movements to an extraordinary degree. And she was just about to pour forth a rain of questions when she perceived that her host was sitting doubled up in a chair, uttering sounds as of one in pain.

Lady Vera stopped, concerned. Accustomed to making up her mind quickly, at a very early date in their acquaintance, she had decided quite definitely that later on she would marry T. Patterson Frisby. At their very first meeting she had recognized him as one who needed a woman to look after him; and when, in the course of their conversation, she had discovered that the post was vacant, she had determined to fill it.

So now she gazed upon him with stronger than the detached womanly pity which she would have bestowed on a mere stranger whom she had found tying himself into knots.

"Whatever is the matter?" she asked.

"Ouch!" said Mr. Frisby.

At their first encounter this man had been in very much the same condition, and he had confided to her then his hidden secret.

"Have you been eating duck again?" she asked keenly.

She saw him writhe and knew that her diagnosis had been correct.

"Wait!" she said.

She went to the telephone and was almost immediately in communication with the druggist on the main floor of the building. Presently there was a ring at the bell, and a small boy appeared bearing a brimming glass full of some grayish liquid.

"Drink this," said Lady Vera.

Mr. Frisby drank, and instantly it was as if some strong man had risen in the meeting of shareholders, dominating all. The shouts died to whispers, the whispers to silence. Peace reigned. And T. Patterson Frisby, licking his lips, spoke in a low, awed voice.

"What was it?"

"It is something my husband used to recommend. He suffered as you do. But after lobster. He said it was infallible."

"It is," said Mr. Frisby. "Have you ever tried it on a corpse? I should say it would work."

A. E. GALE AGAIN NAMED PRESIDENT

Re-elected Head of Keating Co-operative Fruitgrowers' Association at Annual Meeting

A. E. Gale was re-elected president of the Keating Co-operative Fruitgrowers' Association at the annual meeting held last night. William Kersey was again named vice-president, and H. F. Creed, J. Sutton and J. Chipperfield were chosen directors. T. S. P. Buckle was appointed auditor.

Reports of the past year were received, which showed that the tonnage handled by the exchange was: Loganberries, 125 tons, at 8 cents a pound; fifty-seven tons of strawberries for jam at 6 1-2 to 7 cents a pound for No. 1, and 5 cents a pound for No. 2. Four thousand crates were shipped to the Prairie pool, the price bringing $1.80 to the grower. A considerable tonnage of cherries and blackberries was also handled.

The outlook for the coming year is fair, with the Victoria Wineries expecting to take about 100 tons of loganberries. A good market is expected in England for the strawberry crops if British preference is enforced. The general trade, however, depends largely on the tariffs.

CLEVER PLAYERS AT SHRINE HALL

Victoria Little Theatre Ass'n Presents Group of Pleasing Performers

Undoubtedly one of the premier events of Victoria's entertainment season and certainly the crowning effort of that delightful little company of players was the three one-act plays presented by the Little Theatre Association to an admiring audience at the Shrine Auditorium last night. They will be repeated tonight.

Opening with "Matinata," a quaint trifle of lilting humor admirably woven into the somewhat Bohemian existence of Columbine, Pierrot and Harlequin, the company excelled its past performances in variety, stage technique and ability to please. Dorothy Cox was the charming Columbine, Fraser Lister a very practical Harlequin, and Alan King a carefree Pierrot, whose idea of life was song—and slumber. The play was exceptionally well done—in all a pretty little offering.

It would hardly be fair to give too much praise to any one of the three plays presented, because each called for an entirely different character; one light, the second heavily dramatic, and the final act distinctly humorous. Of course, a different group of performers for each.

"TWISTED WINDOWS"

"The House With the Twisty Windows" offered many advantages for clever acting. This scene was in Petrograd, where a group of English men and women were held hostage for Derrick Moore, played with fine effect by H. S. Hurn, whose presence in Petrograd seriously menaced the success of the revolution. The strain of six weeks of close confinement wrecked the nerves of the little group, not knowing what their fate was to be. In this young Jack Tryer, as Charlie Clive, had a most difficult part, but he carried it with great credit and did not overdo it, one of the grave dangers in highly emotional lines. Leslie Hardy, who played the role of James Roper, K.C., was also well done. His efforts to calm the harassed group wanted nothing. Marjorie Nockolds, who played the part of Anne Sorrell, gave the audience a treat with her portrayal of a very much victimized girl. Heather Sorrell, played by Ara Hayne, had plenty to do in the act and certainly gave her best to the part. Her finale with Derrick Moore was admirable. Teresa, Lady Pontling, a lady of gentle birth, who mothered the little group, was played by Lucy Wharton. Stepan was played by Lewis Wharton.

The climax to "Twisted Windows" was nicely timed. Derrick Moore, whom the group thinks safe and about to be released thinking he is impersonating another, really goes to his death. "Twisted Windows" is a fairy tale. Derrick tells it. Is summoned by the commissar. A shot. Deathlike silence — and so "The House With the Twisted Windows" ends. A remarkably clever act, with many difficult situations well taken care of by the players.

"THE POT BOILER"

"The Pot Boiler," a funny name to a funnier playlet, and with a cast of funnily-named players. There is Mr. Pinnikles Sud (Art Kerr), Harold Wouldby (Thomas Goodlake), Mrs. Pencil (Rosemary Bay), Miss Ivory (Muriel Thompson), Mr. Inkwell (Dan Macdonald), Mr. Ruler (Cleaver Wilson), and Mr. Ivory, played by Hugh Creelman. The stage is the stage and the setting is just what it is. Mr. Sud is a playwright, the players are like all players—temperamental, and some extremely humorous incidents occur during the rehearsal of the "masterpiece." The "people of the play," it seemed, enjoyed the whole thing as much as the audience. "Who Shoots?" closes the act with about four "gats" drawn and beaded, but then it's only a play and no one shoots.

TALENTED PLAYERS

It is very rarely that one sees a collection of plays produced with such a high degree of entertainment as those presented by the Victoria Little Theatre Association last night. While the players are amateurs in the strict sense of the theatrical, it would be hard to assemble on one stage a more accomplished group of entertainers. Many hours of study and patient directing must have been the lot of the players for many months past.

DIRECTORS AND STAFF

"Matinata" was directed by Nina Napier; "The House With the Twisted Windows," by Leslie Lamb, and "The Pot Boiler" by Harry Dee. The committee in charge of the presentation was composed of the following: Scenery, C. L. Campbell and G. D'Arcy; properties, Betty Hetherington and Margaret Napier; costumes, Miss Swanson and Evelyn Bonavia; stage and lighting, Maurice Green; box office, Miss Alexa Bradshaw; house, J. D. Curtis; publicity, Helen Hurn; make-up, Eileen D'Arcy; production manager, Fraser Lister, and assisted by others as ushers, door attendants and cashier.

YELLOW SANDS . BIG FAVORITE

Audience at Royal Theatre Clamorously Applaud Phillpott Comedy

"Communism's no more yet nor a bad smell from the Nor' East," says old Uncle Dick Varwell in one of his pregnant statements during the post-mortem party held in the last act of "Yellow Sands," the delightful yet profound Phillpotts' comedy which the Sir Barry Jackson British Players brought to the Royal Victoria Theatre last night to succeed "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." The performance will be repeated this afternoon and tonight.

Uncle Dick's commentary is a digest of the below-surface philosophy which permeates this charming play, than which no more wholesome, natural, appealing or human-interest entertainment has ever graced the local stage. On the surface sheer comedy of the most kindly and laughable kind, those who like something a little more searching will find it.

AUNT JENIFER

The central figure is old Aunt Jenifer Varwell, an octogenarian who holds the leading strings on the little family fortune. Round her gravitate the incidents and thoughts of the other folk. A shrewd but gentle autocrat, she is in turn feared, respected and loved by the other members of the family, according to their respective attitudes toward the money it is known she will leave at her death.

The immediate relatives are nine in number. But the distribution of £4,000 among these at the old lady's death has a dramatic significance which is presaged in the temperament of the guests at Aunt Jenifer's eightieth birthday party, one of the unforgettable scenes of the comedy. Here the sharp contrasts of character are splendidly shown.

DAPHNE HEARD

First and foremost must be mentioned Daphne Heard in the part of old Aunt Jenifer. This was an extraordinarily clever characterization of an old lady, shrewd, sprightly, in perfect possession of all her faculties, although suffering from a very slight infirmity of the knees which makes it necessary for her to appear in a wheel chair in the first act, and to remain seated during the greater part of the second act at her own eightieth birthday party. It was almost impossible to recognize the Miss Heard who played Elizabeth in "The Barretts," the make-up and acting were such a complete disguise, while the facial play revealed, in its gentle way, what a really "deep old bird" she was, as her astute brother knew.

OPPOSED PHILOSOPHIES

Second in major importance are Donald Woifit in the part of the radical, "Joe," and Julian D'Albie in the part of Uncle Dick. Joe is the Devonshire village prototype of a Hyde Park soap-box orator. Earnest in his faith, in his untutored way he reaches heights of real eloquence, preaching what he considers to be the universal cure. The character is well drawn by the playwright, and is remarkably well played. Mr. D'Albie gave a splendidly realistic and humorous delineation of the bibulous "Uncle Dick," and must surely have linked his own gifts of observation to those of Mr. Phillpott in creating the type. His pregnant comments meant much to the play.

Mary Hartley-Milburn as the text-burdened and uncomfortably pessimistic Mary Varwell provided much that was exciting, including two attacks of hysterics that were splendidly effective. The elderly spinster twins, Minnie and Nellie Masters, were deliciously portrayed by Thelma Rae and Norah Nicholson; Ellis Irving was a genuine-seeming Arthur; Sophie Stewart was a very real and sweet little Lydia, and A. Caton Woodville gave a moving interpretation of the part of Aunt Jenifer's lifelong friend, Thomas Major.

WOULD PROMOTE SALE OF WINES

Keating Fruitgrowers Will Seek Government Aid to Increase Consumption

The Provincial Government will be asked to assist loganberry growers of British Columbia by taking all possible steps to increase the consumption of loganberry wine, it was decided at the annual meeting of the Keating Co-operative Fruitgrowers' Association, held last night.

In connection with the matter, a copy of the following resolution will be sent to Premier Tolmie, Attorney-General Pooley and all fruit organizations of the province:

"Whereas, the Government of the Province of Ontario has assisted the local fruit industry (chiefly grapes) by promoting the sale of local wines in various ways;

"Be it resolved that the Provincial Government of British Columbia be asked to consider ways of promoting the sale of native wines in British Columbia and assist the producers of local fruits used for wine-making, and that it be suggested that the elimination of the permit system as regards local wines would be one method which would be of great assistance."

FLAG RAISING IS DISCUSSED

Army and Navy Veterans Endorse Order of Minister of Education

The Army and Navy Veterans, in annual general meeting, Thursday night, discussed the question of the recent order of the Minister of Education to all schools in British Columbia that the scholars should be assembled once a week to salute the flag and sing "God Save Our King." The question was closely debated and the point was raised that there was nothing new about the aspect of the subject for, it was stated, it had been on the statute books since 1912.

The meeting very enthusiastically endorsed the following resolution: "That we endorse the action taken by the Provincial Command in recommending to the Honorable the Minister of Education that the children attending the schools in British Columbia be assembled once a week, and that our flag, 'The Union Jack,' be hoisted and the National Anthem sung."

The following delegates were appointed to attend the Provincial Command meeting at Ladysmith on February 6: T. Mayne, C. F. L. Money, A. H. C. Jones and G. W. Gardiner; to the Armistice committee, J. Boult was appointed.

A hearty vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the press for its constant courtesy in reporting the club's activities during the past year.

CHURCH REPORTS ARE ENCOURAGING

Knox Presbyterian Had Most Successful Year in 1931, Annual Statement Discloses

Gratifying reports of work performed during the past year were received at the annual congregational meeting at Knox Presbyterian, held on Thursday night, with Rev. J. S. Patterson, the pastor, in the chair.

In connection with the Mission Band of the church, the name of Rev. Joseph McCoy, D.D., a former minister of the church, was outstanding, and it was recalled that he had done much for the benefit of the band.

The C.G.I.T. report indicated that the group had an active year under the able leadership of Mrs. J. S. Patterson, who also had charge of the Mission Band.

SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT

The Sunday school experienced one of its most successful years under the supervision of Neil McDonald and an efficient staff of teachers, the report of this department stated.

Reginald Scoble reviewed the activities of the boys' work department, stating that during the year a new lantern had been purchased.

The report of the Ladies' Aid Society, given by Mrs. Wilshire, recorded the raising of about $500, while Mrs. Dempsey, president of the W.M.S. Auxiliary, stated that this group had "gone over the top" in its missionary givings.

The Young People's Society had grown rapidly and was looking forward to the future use of the tennis courts owned by the church, under the leadership of Robert Foulis.

REPAIRS NECESSARY

The board of managers' statement explained that certain repairs had been necessary to the church building after forty years' of service. Church services had been well attended, this report showed, while all accounts had been paid, leaving the church free of debt, as well as having paid $472 for missionary and benevolent purposes. It stated further that the church membership had been practically doubled and that 1931 had been one of the best years the church had ever had.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Rev. J. S. and Mrs. Patterson were tendered a hearty vote of thanks for their untiring work for the benefit of the congregation.

Girls' Work Theme of Leaders' Conference

The Leaders' Council of the C.G.I.T. met Thursday night in the Belmont Church Hall, for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to girls' work. The two chief factors dealt with were missionary topics, and how to present them to the 'teen age girl, and the service of worship. These subjects were discussed by Mrs. W. P. Freeman, of First Baptist Church, and Miss Ann Fountain, of Vancouver, provincial secretary of girls' work.

During the meeting the annual report of the Girls' Work Board of the Religious Education Council, was presented by Miss Beall. The meeting concluded with a short devotional service.

ONCE SKINNY —EASILY TIRED

...now runs upstairs two at a time!

Also gained 16lbs. in 5 weeks

HE KNOWS what it is to lose weight, to lose strength—to be threatened with a lifetime of ill health. He couldn't even climb the stairs without resting halfway—yet now he runs up them two at a time!

Ask this lucky fellow where he got all his pep—how he filled out his scrawny frame. And here's what he'll tell you: "All day I used to feel dull and tired and weak in the knees. Just climbing a flight of stairs left me gasping for breath.

"Also I was losing weight by the minute and suffered often from dyspepsia and constipation. A friend suggested Ironized Yeast. I took these 'wonder' tablets for 5 weeks and gained 16 pounds. The very first package easily doubled my pep and energy. By now, I am in perfect health, no ailments at all. The stairs never get the better of me now. I run up and down them—often two at a time!" Mr. Emile Leblanc, 204 Clarence St., Ottawa, Ont.

Ironizing is the second great process in making Ironized Yeast. The dried yeast concentrate is treated with three distinct kinds of iron. This powerful tonic element so enriches, so strengthens the blood that Ironized Yeast users from the very start notice a tremendous increase in pep, in vitality—zest for life!

SAILING FOR ORIENT SEAS

Japan Out Today — Corn Ship Discharging — Pacific Enterprise Due

Rithet Piers will present a busy picture for a few hours this afternoon. Three deep-sea ships will be there practically at the same time. Outbound to ports in the Orient, the Canadian Pacific liner Ss. Empress of Japan, Captain S. Robinson, R.N.R., commander, will arrive alongside the piers at 4 o'clock, and will leave for Honolulu after embarking a number of local and United States travelers, who are proceeding to the Hawaiian resort on pleasure bent, and taking aboard last-minute mail. The present voyage outward is the last one on which Captain Robinson will be in command of the big Pacific vessel, as he is retiring from the service after a long and interesting career.

While the Empress of Japan will dock at Pier 2, freighter West Honaker will be alongside Pier 1 discharging maize. The West Honaker is arriving early this morning and will commence unloading at 8 o'clock. The cargo is from South Africa and totals 600 tons. Completing here, the ship will proceed to Mainland ports, having considerable corn aboard for both Vancouver and New Westminster.

Inbound from the United Kingdom, the Furness freight and passenger ship Pacific Enterprise is due at William Head at 4 o'clock this afternoon, according to King Brothers. Obtaining pratique, the ship should be coming up to the docks shortly after 5 o'clock, about the time the Empress of Japan is pulling out. The Pacific Enterprise has cargo for the port, and after completing here will go to the Mainland.

CASCARA TREE BARK SHIPPED TO ENGLAND

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29 (CP).—The usual seasonal movement of cascara bark from British Columbia forests is on and the British freighter Ss. Carlton has loaded twenty tons, consisting of 764 bales, for England. This traffic has been a regular one for many years as British Columbia is one of the last reserves of the cascara tree. The bark is stripped and baled, the work being done largely by Indians and Japanese. Much of it comes from Fraser Valley, though now a considerable shipment is sent in from Vancouver Island. During the past five years a total of 322 tons of bark has been exported from Vancouver.

FLYERS LAND AT CRESTON

Unfavorable Weather Prevented Planes From Reaching Coast

NELSON, Jan. 29 (CP).—With a flight of "hard luck" behind them, W. H. Cross, Victoria, owner of the plane, and Pilot J. Grubbstrom, who set out early this afternoon from Lethbridge with the intention of making a nonstop flight to Vancouver on the last leg of their Transcanada flight, were forced down at Creston, east of here, at 3:05 o'clock this afternoon by fog. Luck favored the airmen when they were forced to land on wheels in two feet of snow that covered the landing field. To prevent the plane nosing over they piled their 700 pounds of baggage into the tail end of the ship and "set her down."

After leaving Lethbridge, the flyers headed in through the Crow's Nest Pass, but almost immediately encountered dirty weather and head winds. Climbing to 12,000 feet they flew more or less blind above fog. As they continued westward, the fog became worse, and when Creston was sighted it was decided to take a chance and land on the snow-covered field.

Cross and Grubbstrom will continue their flight to Vancouver as soon as weather conditions permit.

Vancouver Shipping

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29 (CP).—Hamburg-American Line Ss. Tacoma, Captain C. Walthers, arrived overnight to Dingwall, Cotts & Co. She will load several thousand tons of grain and general outward.

American Mail Line reports the steamer Olympic in port to pick up cargo for Northern China ports.

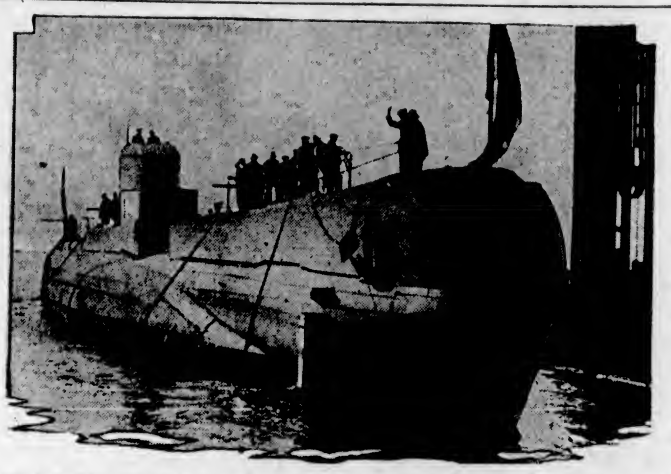
Pacific Ss. Co. steamer Admiral Wiley is spending several days in this port. She arrived on Tuesday and will sail on Saturday for California ports. The reason for her layover is that there was no paper for her at Ocean Falls this trip, so she did not make the run north. She put in the time giving her officers and crew a holiday ashore, and will leave in time to pick up her usual schedule for loading on Puget Sound for California ports.

B. L. Johnson, Walton & Co., agent for Danish East Asiatic Co., announces an important change in the route of Ms. Europa and Amerika. Commencing with Ms. Europa from this coast in April, the run will include Rotterdam as a port of call, instead of Hamburg, the new route being Southampton, Rotterdam, Copenhagen. Rotterdam will be reached in twenty-five days from the time of departure from Los Angeles. The ships carry passengers, general and refrigerator freights.

Dr. Butcher—See here, Muddiman, you should be ashamed of yourself stealing flowers from that grave. I've a good mind to report you.

Gravedigger—Aw, be a good sport, Doc, and overlook it. I've covered up many a mistake of yours.

Successfully Passed All Tests



SAID to be the world's largest submarine, this huge undersea craft, bearing the colorful name of H.M.S. Sturgeon, is shown at Tilbury Dock, London, soon after her launching. The sleek and sturdy vessel, which has passed its tests to the complete satisfaction of the British Admiralty, embodies many features heretofore regarded as impracticable for submarines. Besides her fore and aft torpedo chambers, the undersea monster carries batteries of disappearing guns and antiaircraft artillery.

Fertilizer From Trail Is Going To China Ports

NEW WESTMINSTER, Jan. 29 (CP).—When the Ss. Olympic sails from this port, she will carry 200 tons of sulphate of ammonia fertilizer for Shanghai.

This is the first large shipment of fertilizer for export from the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company's new fertilizer plant at Trail. It is anticipated that regular shipments of the fertilizer will be made to various countries of the world.

WILL MAKE AN EXTRA SAILING

Duchess of Atholl to Remain in Transatlantic Service for Some Time

MONTREAL, Jan. 29.—An extra transatlantic sailing from Halifax to Glasgow and Liverpool was announced today by Canadian Pacific offices here. The Duchess of Atholl is due to leave Halifax for the two British ports on Tuesday, February 9, and will remain in transatlantic service for the balance of the Winter season. She will be replaced on the New York to Bermuda service by the Duchess of Bedford during the heavy traffic season in March.

Leaving New York at midnight, February 4, the Duchess is due at Halifax early on February 7, and will remain there two days, allowing her American passengers to see the city and permiting Canadians to de-day their departure from Montreal until Monday evening, February 8, when a special train will leave Windsor Station at 7 o'clock.

The midweek sailing is expected to be popular, as it gives Ontario and Middle Western passengers an opportunity to finish a business week before their departure for England. Cabin, tourist and third class passengers will be carried on this sailing.

CANADIAN CLUB ELECTS ITS HEAD

Charles McNaughton to Be President of Alberni District—Interesting Address Given

PORT ALBERNI, Jan. 29.—Charles McNaughton, well-known business man of this city, was elected president of the Alberni District Canadian Club at the annual meeting, held last evening, in the Port Alberni Hotel, while Charles Robson, of Great Central Lake, was elected vice-president. The offices of secretary and executive were left over for consideration.

H. G. Nolan, barrister, of Calgary, was the speaker at the meeting and took as his subject "General Louis Botha and South African Unity." He traced the history of this great man from the time of his boyhood until his death, and showed very vividly how one of the greatest enemies of the Empire became one of its strongest Imperialists. Mr. Nolan showed in interesting manner, how the outbreak of the Great War came very near to breaking up the South African Dominion, as many of General Botha's staff deserted the cause of the Allies and endeavored to set up again a Boer Empire, and it became General Botha's hard duty to take up arms against those with whom he had previously been a comrade in arms. "England placed her trust in this man, a former enemy, and never once did he falter from that trust," concluded the speaker.

In the afternoon, Mr. Nolan addressed the Women's Canadian Club on the same subject at the Somass Hotel, when seventy-eight members were present. Mrs. C. J. Spratt, the president of the club, was in the chair. Mrs. J. B. Wood moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Skeena and Vancouver Will Remain at Salvador

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP).—Pending advices from the British Charge d'Affaires at Salvador as to the advisability of releasing or retaining the two Canadian destroyers, Skeena and Vancouver, at Alcajutla, the warships will remain, according to officials here today. While conditions generally appear to be settling down, the situation continues to be such as to require the presence of the vessels.

The menace to Canadian and British interests in Salvador during a revolutionary outbreak there caused the destroyers to be diverted from their Winter cruise to the West Indies a week ago, the Skeena and Vancouver putting into Alcajutla last Saturday.

EXPECTING WAR RATES

Shipping Men Believe Insurance Companies Will Invoke Special Clause

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29 (CP).—Marine underwriters of Vancouver expect that the insurance rate to Shanghai will be raised soon. At present the war clause in policies establishing a premium of 1-10 of 1 per cent is exercised. It is expected that the rate on any merchandise in Godowns ashore will be doubled. Already the insurance companies have refused to insure goods going into the interior of China. In North China, owing to the operation of bandit bands, there is a 1 per cent rate to Mukden.

During the Great War, when German cruisers were on the Pacific, the rate rose to one-half per cent, but after that threat had been removed it never was higher than quarter of 1 per cent. A normal war clause rate, it is said is 1-20 of 1 per cent.

SHIPS LOADING

Many ships are loading or are about to load freight here for Shanghai, and no sign yet has appeared that it would be dangerous to ship. Everyone hopes that the port, like China in all her troubles, will come through within a few hours of the usual calm of ordinary business.

R.M.S. Empress of Japan is loading now for Oriental ports, as is Ss. Shidzuoka Maru, of the N.Y.K. Canadian Transport Company, Limited, will have four vessels within the next week or so to load grain and lumber for Shanghai discharge. If war were declared by China, it is said, one of the first acts of the Japanese navy would be to blockade the Chinese ports to stop arrival of munitions under which category both lumber and grain might be classed.

YARROW PLANT KEEPING BUSY

Four Vessels Alongside Repair Wharf and One in Drydock

The Esquimalt plant of Yarrows, Limited, looks as though prosperity might have appeared from around the corner if only for a little spell. While the number of ships there would indicate busy days for some workers, repairs to the craft are progressing in various stages by the men employed.

At the big Government drydock the Ss. Princess Charlotte, of the B.C. Coast Service fleet, was having one of the tailshafts changed and the underbody cleaned and painted. She will be floated out today. Alongside Constance Cove dock were the Ss. Princess Adelaide, Ss. Princess Norah, Ss. Princess Louise, all of the B.C. Coast fleet as well as the Pacific Gatherer, the big barge of the Pacific Coyle Navigation Company. The work on the Adelaide is progressing nicely, while the firm expected to have the Norah drydocked on Monday for repairs. The Pacific Gatherer is having repairs made to a broken winch, which was apparently the cause of the difficulty experienced off Race Rocks early in the week.

Fishermen Are Reported From Masset Inlet

PRINCE RUPERT, Jan. 29 (CP). — Three fishermen who have been missing with their boats since they left Maiden Harbor on January 22 for Prince Rupert, were reported safe today at Masset Inlet. They are Chris Carlson, James Marshall and Albert Barton. No explanation has been received of the cause of their delay in reaching here.

EXPECTS IMPROVEMENT

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (CP).—As soon as navigation opens, the entire package freight fleet of Canada Steamship Lines will go into operation, L. A. W. Doherty, general freight traffic manager of the line, declared here today.

"Next season should see an improvement in lake and river freight shipping," he said.

RAILROADS ARE SLASHING RATES

Meeting the competition of air and motor transportation, which threatens to seriously challenge the method of travel in vogue for many years past, the transcontinental railroads of the United States recently decided to offer attractive rates to the East from all points in the West during the Summer tourist season, according to A. C. Stickley, local agent of the Northern Pacific system.

The rates agreed on by the companies operating from the Northwest, including the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway and the Great Northern Railway, in addition to the Northern Pacific, are the lowest ever set, the round trip from Victoria to New York, with a thirty-day limit, being extremely attractive. Tickets on all railroads mentioned for these round trips will be effective May 22, continuing through the Summer tourist season with final return limit fixed for October 31.

Naval and Military Dance Attracts Many Guests

The annual ball of the United Services Institution of Vancouver Island last evening, at the Empress Hotel, was one of the most brilliant gatherings of the season, and nearly three hundred guests attended. The ballroom had been elaborately decorated with flags and an illuminated naval crown placed at the west end of the ballroom and a model of H.M.C.S. Skeena as a background for the orchestra added an original touch to the decoration scheme. The ballroom foyer was arranged with chairs and lounges, the tables bright with bowls of Spring flowers, and made a delightful rendezvous between dances. A bugler announced each new dance on the programme, the augmented orchestra responding generously with encores at the conclusion of each number.

A sitdown supper was served at 11:30 o'clock in the main dining-room, dancing continuing until 2 o'clock.

NOVEL CONCERT GIVES PLEASURE

Blind Musicians Entertain Audience at Empress Hotel

A novel entertainment took place at the Empress Hotel Thursday evening, under the chairmanship of Sir Rodmond Roblin, former Premier of Manitoba, the programme consisting of orchestral numbers and solos by several blind musicians and a "talkfest" by F. S. Dickinson.

The instrumental ensemble, comprising nine instruments in addition to the piano, proved very enjoyable, showing sensitiveness on the part of each player, and a happy appreciation of clean tempo, attack and phrasing, as well as of the mood of the composition. One of the most representative performances was the "Vampa" overture, which was interpreted with raciness, brightness and spontaneity, the piccolo solo in this being particularly pleasing on account of its cle.., fresh tone. Other numbers by the orchestra were the briskly-played overture to "Light Cavalry" (Von Suppe); the "Scotch Melodies," where the atmosphere was well sustained; the "Poet and Peasant" overture, and a selection from "Faust." All these were warmly applauded.

BRILLIANT MUSICIAN

Ronny Matthews, the young pianist, proved himself a brilliant musician with a fine themal instinct and command of great tonal effects. Despite this latter quality, however, he played with restraint and feeling, showing delicacy and sympathy of a rare quality. He was enthusiastically applauded. His artistry in the role of accompanist was also specially noted, particularly in the euphonium solos by R. C. McKnight, who himself played with a very sweet and bright expression. Archie Ford, the violinist, had good pitch and tone in his "Cavalleria Rusticana" selection.

Former Premier Roblin took issue with Mr. Dickinson in some of the views which this speaker expressed in response to questions on the following subjects: "Will jazz music ever predominate?" "Will Canada take the gold standard?" "Will Bolshevism continue in Russia, and is it likely to spread to other countries?" "Should the three Prairie Provinces unite?" "What will be the outcome of the war in China?" and "Is it dangerous to disarm now"

Birthday Party at New Thought Hall Much Enjoyed

An enjoyable party was held recently in the New Thought Temple, when Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompsett entertained about a hundred of their friends, the occasion being the twenty-first birthday of their daughter, Marjorie. Dancing was enjoyed, and supper served at 11 o'clock. Sermons of Popular Preacher Appeared In 3,600 Newspapers

Centenary of Birth of Rev. Dr. T. de Witt Talmage Recalls Meteoric Career of American Pulpit Orator of Last Century

THE centenary of the birth of T. de Witt Talmage on January 7 recalls a preacher whose sermons at the beginning of this century were being published weekly in 3,600 papers and were reaching, it was estimated, no fewer than 30,000,000 people in America and elsewhere. He died in 1902 at the very climax of his career.

Preaching his first sermon as a candidate for his first call in the Reformed Church of Belleville, N.J., he chose the story of Gideon and the pitchers. In the hymn before the sermon, according to a writer in The Christian World, he felt less like Gideon and more like the Midianites "who ran and cried and fled." When he turned to put a hand on the precious manuscript he found it had slipped behind the seat of the pulpit "sofa." He had to scramble on his stomach under the seat and retrieved it just as the congregation finished the last verse. Fortunately, the pulpit front was wide enough to conceal his performances. This and other accidents with manuscripts led him later to preach only from the merest scrap of notes.

VISITED GLADSTONE

In 1890 he spent a day with Gladstone at Hawarden. The G.O.M. was then in his eighty-first year, but lithe of body and elastic in step. In a few minutes after the greeting Gladstone proposed a walk and, calling his dog, started out for what was in fact a run over the estate. "Gladstone was the only man I have ever met who could walk fast enough for me."

Asked if the years had strengthened his faith, Gladstone stopped suddenly, looked at him searchingly and spoke with a solemnity which made him quake: "Dr. Talmage, my only hope for the world is in the bringing of the human mind into contact with divine revelation. Nearly all the men at the top of our country are believers in the Christian religion. . . . I myself have been in the Cabinet for forty-seven years, and during all that time I have been associated with sixty of the chief intellects of the century. I can think of but five who did not make profession of the Christian religion, but those five respected it. We may talk about questions of the day here and there, but there is only one question, and that is how to apply the gospel to all circumstances and conditions. It can and will correct all that is wrong."

RECEIVED BY CZAR

Hearing criticisms of the high charges made for his public lectures and services on his first visit to England—they were arranged by an agency and not by himself—he came over shortly after on a gospel tour and made no charges at all. Dr. Talmage was cordially received by both Alexander III of Russia and by Nicholas II. On the former occasion the Grand Duke spoke of the edification he derived from his sermons.

His career was a triumphal procession, crowds cramming every building where he was announced to preach or lecture. He held a pastorship for twenty-five years in Brooklyn, and three times he had his Tabernacle burnt to the ground. For thirty years his pulpit reached multitudes all over the world, for he understood how to make the fullest use of the press as an agency for spreading the gospel.

MAKES CLAIM MONEY RULES

City Temple Pastor to Deal With Asserted Dictation of Financial Group

Have the peoples of the world for the past twenty-five years been secretly ruled by a sinister oligarthy of finance, which has consistently dictated the policies of rulers of nations toward the furtherance of its own rapacious ends? At the City Temple tomorrow evening, Dr. Clem Davies will deal with this question and will endeavor to substantiate his position by means of current documentary evidence.

It will be the claim of Dr. Davies that this invisible power of mammon deliberately planned the destruction of government, and that with it lies responsibility for the Great War and its aftermath of suffering and depression. He will further contend that its present activities are responsible for the subjugation of humanity, and are an almost insurmountable barrier to progress and prosperity.

At the morning devotional service the subject will be "The Gospel of Good Health." At this service the Temple choir will render the anthem, "Lift Up Your Heads," by Hopkins. At 3 o'clock the Temple Brotherhood will meet for the purpose of reconstructing its methods of organization and for election of officers.

The evening service will be preceded by a half-hour instrumental concert by the Temple orchestra. Miss Isabelle Crawford will sing the soprano solo, "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Hills," and the choir will be heard in Bortnianasky's anthem, "Cherubim Song."

WORK FOR B.C. YOUTH GROWS

With Budget Assured, Religious Education Council Begins Year Hopefully

With the budget for 1932 provided for and signs of progress in every department, the Religious Education Council of British Columbia entered upon another year at its recent annual meeting in Vancouver. A revival of interest was reported by the secretary, Rev. E. R. McLean, as prevailing over the province, Victoria being mentioned as having made an outstanding advance under the leadership of Rev. Bruce G. Gray and Rev. J. H. A. Warr.

Reporting for Bible study tests, Rev. J. W. Miller said that British Columbia was head and shoulders above Ontario, its nearest competitor, the senior boys' division of British Columbia leading the Dominion. In the national athletic contests, the boys' clubs of the province had won five out of the ten highest Tuxis group honors and four of the ten Trail Ranger awards. W. A. Ruddle reported that the ninth Tuxis Boys' Parliament had been the lowest in cost, but the best in spiritual and inspirational influences.

An enrollment of 2,070 boys and 170 groups was reported. Forty-four boys, representing twenty-two constituencies, attended the ninth Parliament, and 213 lads attended nine camps. No depression in girls' work, it was stated, could be found under the leadership of Miss Anne Fountain.

The president for the coming year is F. O. Canfield, while Rev. F. A. Ramsey, formerly of Christ Church Cathedral here, is chairman of the father and son committee. Other members include Rev. J. H. A. Warr, of this city, and A. R. C. Hebden, formerly of Victoria, and now of Nanaimo.

Watch-Night Is Observed In Scotland

Commenting on the changed attitude of the Scottish people regarding both Christmas and New Year's Day, the Edinburgh correspondent of The Christian World states that it was rarely, if ever, that a watch-night service was held in a Presbyterian church on New Year's Eve. This was done in a few cases among the Congregationalists and Methodists, but it was almost unknown among the Presbyterians. A few of the leading churches held a service on New Year's morning. This year, however, the two leading churches in Edinburgh—St. Cuthbert's and St. Giles'—held watch-night services, and there were excellent congregations at each, and in both these churches there was also a service at 11 o'clock on New Year's morning. There was a marked increase in the number of churches where this service was held.

Hawes (contralto), Miss Mary Philip (violin) and Arnold W. Trevett (baritone). The proceeds will be in aid of the choir fund.

Women's World's Day of Prayer to Be Observed Here

UNITING groups of Christian women in all parts of the world, and bringing into prayerful fellowship representatives of almost all communions, the Women's World's Day of Prayer will be observed on Friday, Feb. 12. Carrying out the idea of universalism, the programme this year has been prepared by a woman in India, as it has been in recent years by members of the Christian Church in China and Canada. The movement is under the direction of the women's missionary societies. Last year 250 women belonging to six denominations gathered at the Baptist Church to co-operate in this world-wide effort. This year seven denominations invite all women interested to gather at the Memorial Hall, Vancouver Street, at 2 o'clock.

PREPARE FOR ANNIVERSARY

Group "B" of the Women's Association, recently organized with a very attractive programme, is scheduled to meet Monday afternoon.

Elaborate preparations for the celebration of the seventieth anniversary of the founding of the congregation are well under way. On Sunday, February 7, Rev. W. H. Smith, Ph.D., D.D., of Union Theological College, Vancouver, will preach both morning and evening, and on the Monday evening following there will be a social function of a very interesting character.

Music for Sunday follows:

ACTS GOOD SAMARITAN

Report of Anglican Social Service Council Reviews Many Activities

With the interesting caption of "The Challenge of Hard Times," a report of the good work done during 1931 by the Church of England in Canada, through its council of social service, has just been issued. Of this department, the primate, the Most Rev. C. L. Worrell, D.D., Archbishop of Nova Scotia, is chairman and Rev. Canon C. W. Vernon is general secretary. The church's ministry to the needy areas of the West, its care for the newcomer, the unemployed, the wayward, the foreign-born Canadian and many other classes, comes under review.

The response of the primate's appeal for Western relief is reported to have reached $11,000 by the end of the year. Several members of the Church Army have been detailed for the relief camps. The regular work of welcome given at the ports comprised the meeting of 235 ships and hospitable direction given to 14,000 church people by the chaplains and women workers stationed at Halifax, Saint John and Quebec. Hostels are maintained at Edmonton, North Battleford and Indian Head for the after care of British lads in Western Canada. Other ways of service include care of the indigent and homeless, the delinquent, the widow and the orphan, the prisoner's family and discharged prisoners, and others that call for the hand of the Good Samaritan.

The General Synod endorsed the resolution of the council which "viewed with concern the moral and social evils incident to the spread of speculation." The council also petitioned the Federal Government against the possible permission of sweepstakes for hospitals.

THRILLING DRAMA WILL OPEN TODAY

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" Commences at Dominion Theatre for Three-Day Run

The greatly increased scope of the picture drama over that of the stage, and the arduous requirements of an actor who plays the central or starring role, is clearly shown in Paramount's filmization of Robert Louis Stevenson's classic, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which is the Dominion Theatre's feature for three days.

Fredric March, who plays the dual personality role, appears in 218 of the 305 scenes in the picture. Of these, 110 are as Jekyll and 108 as Hyde.

Furthermore, he had to memorize a total of 297 speeches, ranging from those in which he utters only a single word to a 500-word address before a medical college gathering.

Although he delivers 216 speeches as Jekyll to eighty-one as Hyde, the latter was far more difficult in proportion since he had to speak them in a disguised voice.

DOUGLAS M'LEAN IN NEW COMEDY

Popular Comedian Returns to Screen in "Caught Plastered" at Empire Today

Some years ago Douglas MacLean, while at the peak of his popularity as a comedian, suddenly retired from the screen. He sought new worlds to conquer.

That he has done so is the unanimous opinion of critics who previewed his story, Radio Pictures' comedy, "Caught Plastered." The film, with Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey and Dorothy Lee in the leading roles, is scheduled to open at the Empire Theatre today.

While the movies rolled on, introducing new luminaries, MacLean quietly labored, seeking the fullest comedy possibilities of the talking screen. He found it in the ancient theatrical law, that laughter is heartiest when tears are imminent, and that comedy, under the surface, is drama.

"Caught Plastered" is a heart-interest story with hilarity combined, strange bedfellows, yet so beautifully done that comedy is always stressed while the plot retains audience interest.

CAPITOL THEATRE The results of experiments in the use of shadows to create eerie effects are seen in John Gilbert's latest screen drama, "The Phantom of Paris," currently playing at the Capitol Theatre. The uncanny situations in this unique story of a man who changes his face and reappears in the world as an impostor lent itself to wide use of scenes flavored with a macabre atmosphere. John Robertson, in directing this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, made use of several new inventions in camera devices to obtain gruesome effects.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE While romance is the dominant note in "A Holy Terror," the Fox current success at the Playhouse Theatre, it does not depend entirely upon this fact to make it a most entertaining production. It also embraces mystery, thrills and tense moments. George O'Brien portrays the featured male role and Sally Eilers enacts the leading feminine part. The supporting cast includes Humphrey Bogart, Rita La Roy, James Kirkwood, Stanley Fields and Robert Warwick.

COLUMBIA THEATRE A replica of the famous stage coaches used in the early history of Nevada and California, correct in every detail, is used in the new Tiffany Western drama, "The Nevada Buckaroo," featuring popular Bob Steele, which is on the programme of the Columbia Theatre, last times today.

FINE CAST FEATURES PLAYHOUSE PICTURE

Fame may be made of many things. Contributing factors may be brains, beauty, heroism, gold or murder. But Robert Emmett O'Connor, playing his nth detective role in Tiffany's "The Single Sin," has another claim to attention.

So many times has he been the quiet, persistent, merciless detective in big screen features that when he walks around the studio half a dozen people pause unconsciously and wonder who in the studio is guilty—and of what?

Lawyer (for defence)—What time was it when you were robbed?"

Complainant (angrily)—I don't know; ask your client—he took my watch.

ABOUT $4,000 WAS AVERAGE BOOK PRICE

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—One of those brilliant assemblies which Manhattan can produce upon occasion turned out last night for the most important rare book event in half a decade—the sale of part of the superb collection of the Marquess of Lothian, at the American Art Association Anderson Galleries.

The first forty-six items under the hammer brought $306,000 and the night's total for eighty-nine items was $386,260—about $4,000 each.

The high price of the evening was $61,000 paid for the "Tikyitt Psalter, Circa 1310," by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenoach, a famous New York collector.

BIG LIST TO SEEK HONORS AT ARMORIES

Entries Pouring in for Vancouver Island Badminton Meet Next Week

MONDAY LAST DAY FOR FILING NAMES

With entries pouring into the secretary at a fast clip, one of largest contingents of shuttlecock experts in the history of the event is expected to seek the Vancouver Island badminton championships next week at the Armories. Officials of the tournament are more than satisfied with the entry list to date, as it includes many competitors from the various third and fourth division clubs belonging to the Lower Island League as well as a good representation from Up-Island and the Mainland.

The tourney will get under way Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and will conclude Saturday evening with the playing of all the finals. Practically all semi-finals are expected to be finished Friday evening or Saturday afternoon. Eric Lepey, elongated expert from Duncan, will be on deck to defend his men's singles title, while Miss Anna Kier, formerly of Duncan, but now a resident of Vancouver, is expected to file her name with the secretary in order to defend the women's crown she captured last year.

RADFORD ENTERED

Among the strong contenders for the men's honors will be Noel Radford, Duncan, who reached the final of the Canadian championship last season only to fall before Jack Purcell, defending titleholder. Radford battled Purcell against fearful odds, as he was suffering leg injuries at the time and was nearly forced to default.

Entries will close Monday evening with the secretary, R. E. A. Diespecker, 1110 Broad Street, at 6 o'clock. The draw for the opening rounds will be made the same evening.

LEWIS WINS EASILY

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, of St. Louis, world title claimant, had an easy time in winning a straight fall verdict over Jim Clinstock, of Oklahoma, in the feature bout of a wrestling show here last night.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Human Rock—When Andy Felkins was a child he became a sufferer of ossification, and gradually his entire body turned to stone—bones, muscles and ligaments. His tragic life did not affect his mind. One of his accomplishments was committing the Bible to memory.

The picture from which my drawing is made was taken at the Fayette (Alabama) County Fair in 1929. He died in 1930 at the age of forty-eight.

The Rollicking Raconteur—Dr. A. Loinwand, of Vienna, who curiously enough is a member of a family long associated with the fabrication of yarns (Zwirnfabrikation), told an interested audience at the Alpinsten Club in Vienna a series of 600 pointed stories in six and three-quarter hours on Sunday November 6, 1927. The rollicking doctor's goal was narration at the rate of ninety stories within an hour, an attainment with which he is credited in 1923. He exceeded this time by a few minutes only. None of his stories had ever been heard by his audience before.

Fields' Victory Upsets Plans of Jimmy McLarnin

Turn of Fortune's Wheel Again Disrupts Plans of Vancouver's Challenger for Welterweight Crown —Not in Hurry for Bout Now

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29 (CP).—Once again the turn of fortune's wheel has upset, at least temporarily, the plans of Jimmy McLarnin, and Charlie "Pop" Foster, his manager, for a crack at the world's welterweight title. Jimmy was all set for a title affair with Lou Brouillard next month, but last night the French-Canadian from Worcester, Mass., dropped his welter crown to Jackie Fields, a former titleholder.

Foster stated today that he had an offer from Chicago to match McLarnin with Fields, but with the reported small gate taken in at the Fields-Brouillard go last night, and the fact that for the past several years the challenger has been mad to fight for next to nothing, he declared the Foster-McLarnin combination was in no hurry to accept the Windy City offer. He was awaiting a proposal from Jimmy Johnston of Madison Square Garden, New York, before making any definite move.

With the Gotham crowd partial to Hebrews and Irishmen, Foster believes McLarnin and Fields would be one of the big shots of the Spring season.

NOT IN HURRY

"Judging from the reported gate of $28,000 or $29,000 in the Chicago Stadium on Thursday night," Foster said, "I'm not sure that McLarnin and Fields would make it a worth-while proposition, although Jimmy would draw a much bigger house than the Brouillard-Fields go. In New York, Fields and McLarnin would draw anywhere from $100,000 to $125,000, while if the bout was staged outdoors, the gate would easily gross $150,000. We're in no hurry to take on a bout in Chicago, but if the proper guarantee is coming from Nate Lewis, we'll show there.

Jimmy has been chasing the welterweight title around trying to get a crack at it for several years, now, but so far has had little success in getting to close quarters with the champion. First it was Fields, Jimmy beat him in a nontitle go in 1925, and since then Fields sidestepped the Irish-Canadian. He turned down two offers with McLarnin and picked young Jack Thompson instead, and lost his title. Thompson, whom McLarnin also beat in a nontitle affair, refused to meet Jimmy in a championship bout.

Until Jimmy finally ran him down and the champion agreed to a title fight. Then he dropped it to Tommy Freeman and Jimmy was again on the outside. Freeman didn't hold the title long, Thompson regaining it in a return match. Then Brouillard stepped in and took it away, and after dickering around agreed to meet Jimmy next month. However, a previous engagement with Fields ended last night in the title again changing hands and the deal was off.

JIMMY McLARNIN

One Pin Robs Jim Huxtable of Perfect Tenpin Score

A WAVERING pin, which refused to drop into the pits, robbed Jim Huxtable, veteran trundler of the James Island aggregation, of a bowler's lifetime dream, a perfect score, last night on the Arcade Alleys. Bowling anchor position for the Islanders against The Colonist Night Owls in the Senior City Tenpin League, Huxtable hung up the remarkable total of 279, the highest score registered on local alleys in twenty-three years. It was the third frame that robbed the local veteran of his perfect score. He bowled a perfect ball, but one of the corner pins refused to fall. It wavered, but never toppled. Huxtable made two strikes, a spare, and then nine consecutive strikes. His frames follow: 29, 49, 69, 99, 129, 159, 189, 219, 249, 279.

Wood Missed New Record By Few Feet

DETROIT, Jan. 29 (AP).—Three one-hundredths of a second, the tick of a watch, or six-tenths of a nautical mile per hour—that's how far Gar Wood missed undisputed claim to a new world water speed record at Miami Beach, Fla., on Wednesday. The figures are Dick Leavell's, and he owns the timing device used in Wood's record attempt.

Leavell said Wood's speed of 110.785 statute miles an hour, if figured on a basis of nautical miles, was five feet, two and a half inches short of an undisputed world record. A nautical mile is 6,080 feet.

WRESTLER INJURED

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29 (AP).—Abe Coleman, Los Angeles, won the feature match of a wrestling programme here last night, when he butted heads with Charles Fischer, Butternut, Wis., who was rendered unconscious and unable to continue. Coleman weighed 203 pounds, and Fischer 170.

Following an examination in the dressing-room, Fischer was said to be suffering from concussion of the brain.

VANCOUVER MAY JOIN NEW LOOP

Terminal City May Have Team in Northwest "D" Class League

THREE CITIES READY TO ENTER CIRCUIT

SEATTLE, Jan. 29 (AP).—Formation of a Pacific Northwest, Class D, Baseball League virtually became a realization at a meeting of baseball officials here today. With Pacific Coast League clubs announcing their willingness to help back teams in a Class D circuit, Tacoma, Grays Harbor and Seattle men said they were ready to start, provided a fourth Northwestern team can be lined up.

Robert Vaughn, Tacoma, chairman of the meeting, said that Vancouver, B.C., had announced its intention of joining the league and that Yakima, Spokane and Wenatchee might be interested. Vaughn plans to visit these cities in the next few days to "feel" them out.

WANT SIX CLUBS

The league will be formed with four clubs, it was said, with six teams the ultimate aim. It will be known as the Pacific International League if Vancouver joins, and the Northwest League if not.

Bill Klepper, president of the Seattle club, of the Pacific Coast League, said that San Francisco Seals would back Tacoma; Seattle, a Seattle team, and the San Francisco Missions the Vancouver club.

Tom Turner, president of the Portland Coast League club, said he would help finance a Grays Harbor team, and Klepper declared that Oakland was ready to aid Spokane, and Los Angeles would help Yakima.

The next meeting was set for February 9, in Seattle.

BOB KRUSE PINS THOMPSON TWICE IN MAT BATTLE

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29 (CP).—Taking his first fall in the fourth round with a series of head locks, Bob Kruse, of Portland, defeated Tommy Thompson, of San Francisco, here, last night, in the main event of the local mat show. Kruse's second fall came in the fifth round with a straight fall after Thompson had missed a flying arm lock. Thompson had missed a flying arm lock. Thompson secured the first fall of the bout in the third round with a series of flying arm locks. Kruse weighed 198, Thompson 205.

JIM LONDOS WINNER

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Jan. 29 (AP).—Jim Londos successfully defended his wrestling title here last night by downing Dick Daviscourt, of San Francisco, with an aeroplane spin, in 32 minutes.

Strong U.S. Squad To Battle Buyats at High Gymnasium

Formidable Quintette of Northwest Basketball League to Show Wares Before Local Fans in Exhibition—To Tour Island—Five Games Arranged by Officials

Senior "C" Series Will Start

Basketballers from across the border will invade the Capital City for the third time this season, next Wednesday evening, when the flashy Bremerton quintette from Washington State step on the floor at the Victoria High School gymnasium to battle Buyats in an exhibition fixture of a three-game programme arranged by officials of the Victoria and District League yesterday. Word to this effect was received by President Jack Taylor yesterday morning.

With this match already to go on, the second of the three-game series for the city championship, between the Commercials and Buyats, has been postponed until the following week. In the opening tussle, which will get under way at 7:30 o'clock, the Beavers, undefeated intermediate aggregation, will battle Slingers, Green Mill and J.B.A.A., winners of the first and second halves, respectively, will clash in the second attraction in the first of a two-game series for the senior "C" city title, total points to count. The second game is scheduled for the following Wednesday.

TO TOUR ISLAND

Bremerton has one of the finest quintettes in the Northwest. Arrangements have been completed for them to tour the Island. Their first encounter will be against Duncan on Monday evening. Tuesday, they will head down the highway for the Capital City, stopping off at Chemainus for a game that evening. Following the exhibition here, the American squad will journey to Ladysmith, where they play Thursday. Nanaimo will be the next Island city to see the visitors in action, with a game arranged in the Coal City Friday evening. The team will leave from Nanaimo for the Mainland, where it will play in a series of fixtures before heading for home.

Running under the colors of the Charleston Club, the Bremerton lads performed in the Northwest Basketball League this season, finishing in second place to Nordstorm's squad, the champions, after one of the closest races in the history of the loop. Sprinkled with graduates from both University of Washington and Washington State College, the visitors are bringing a well-balanced aggregation, and are expected to have a successful tour.

In the Buyats, they will be up against a team which is noted for its speed and long-range shooting. The locals are extremely light for a senior squad, but what they lack in weight is nullified by speed and marksmanship. With Tommy Forbes, Colin McKenzie, Darrel Bissell, Alex Cudlip, Fred McDonald, Harold Shepherd, Jack Caddell, Ly Patrick and Buzz Brown in uniform, Coach Norm Forbes expects to give Bremerton a hard run for their money.

Fans will be greatly interested in the outcome of the Green Mill-J.B.A.A. series for the senior "C" crown. The cafemen won the first half in a walk but the oarsmen captured the second half laurels by scoring a 29-28 victory over Green Mill last week. Both teams will have strong line-ups on deck, and a great battle should result. Referees will be announced later.

Jumbo Davies to Meet Les Baines In Seattle Ring

WORD was received yesterday from Nat Druxman, Seattle promoter, that he had matched Jumbo Davies, Victoria's "blonde terror," with Les Baines, Tacoma, for one of the six-round feature bouts on the Austin and Bishop's boxing show at the Seattle Crystal Pool next Wednesday evening. Jumbo appeared there last week and lost an unpopular decision to "Wildcat" Carter after a furious battle. Three times the local lad has mixed with Baines and a like number of times both fighters' hands were raised, indicating a draw.

College-Varsity Game Canceled by Inclement Weather

Snow-covered grounds at Brockton Point caused the cancellation of the Victoria College-University of British Columbia Rugby fixture, which was scheduled to be played on the Mainland pitch this afternoon. Providing weather conditions improve, the game will be played sometime before the local college examinations commence.

WANDERERS' LINE-UP

Everton Eleven to Meet Liverpool in Important Fixture

English League Leaders Facing Tough Battle Today—Sheffield United to Clash With Birmingham—Leadership May Change Hands

LONDON, Jan. 29 (CP).—After a week's absence due to cup ties, the English First Division soccer clubs return to their league engagements Saturday with a batch of first-class fixtures. Leading the programme will be the local "Derby" between Everton and Liverpool.

Everton are at the top of the First Division championship table just now, but are not the invincible club they were at the beginning of the season. Liverpool eliminated them from the cup tie series, while Manchester City beat them on Wednesday in a mid-week game. Sheffield United are making a tremendous effort these days and have got to within a point of Everton's total in the table. If Sheffield United can beat Birmingham and Everton lose, the latter will be pushed off the top of the standing.

LEEDS TO MEET ARGYLE

The Second Division fixtures have produced a fine game at Plymouth, where Leeds United, the pacesetters, will hook up with the Argyle Club. The Plymouth team is very strong at home, and Leeds will be lucky if they are not beaten. Wolverhampton Wanderers, runners-up in this section, play Burnley and should win, as ground advantage will be in favor of the Wolves.

The three leaders in the Southern Section of the Third Division, Brentford, Fulham and Crystal Palace, all play at home against poorer clubs, so there should be no change in the standing after Saturday's matches. In the Northern Section, Lincoln City are on top again, with Gateshead second. Lincoln City have no scheduled match, though a game may be arranged for them. Hull City will be the opponents of Gateshead, who can get on top of the standing again if they win and Lincoln are idle.

FOURTH TEST MATCH OPENS 'DOWN UNDER'

South Africans Score 265 for Seven Wickets in First Innings

MITCHELL, TAYLOR MAKE GREAT STAND

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 29 (CP).—The fourth meeting between the cricket teams of South Africa and Australia during the former's present tour opened here today. Australia won the previous three games and the rubber. Five international matches will be played. South Africa batted all day and at the close of play had put on 265 runs for the loss of seven wickets.

South Africa lost their first two wickets for only 45 runs. The batsmen were painfully careful and it required an hour's play before lunch before 60 runs were scored. Subsequently, Mitchell and Taylor put on a bright partnership which yielded 120 runs in ninety-six minutes. Mitchell scored 75 in an invaluable innings, hitting seven fours. Taylor got 78.

CAMERON BATS WELL

Clarence Grimmett, Australia's star bowler, had a profitable spell, capturing the wickets of Taylor, Morkel and Viljoen for the addition of only six runs. Cameron then played a real captain's innings and scored 52 before he, too, fell before the dominating Grimmett. Vincent and McMillan played out time. Scores:

South Africa—First Innings

Gurnow, c Ponsford, b Grimmett	20
Mitchell, c and b McCabe	75
Christy, b O'Reilly	7
Taylor, c Rigg, b Grimmett	78
Cameron, lbw, b Grimmett	52
Morkel, c and b Grimmett	0
Viljoen, b Grimmett	0
Vincent, not out	12
McMillan, not out	10
Extras	5
Total (seven wickets)	265

Fall of wickets: 27 runs for one wicket; 45 runs for two; 165 for three; 202 for four; 205 for five; 205 for six; 245 for seven.

McCorkindale And Gains May Battle Again

LONDON, Jan. 29 (CP).—Promoter Jack Goodwin has offered a purse of $10,000 for a return bout between Larry Gains, Toronto negro heavyweight boxer, and Dan McCorkindale, South African champion, who fought fifteen rounds to a draw last night in a bout styled as being for the heavyweight championship of the British Empire. The return bout would be at Leicester. Last night's fight was in London.

MAX BAER DECISIONS LEVINSKY IN SLOW BOUT

California Heavy Given Verdict in Uninteresting Go

Ten Thousand Fans Fail to Get Excited Over Fight or Decision in Ten-Round Bout at Madison Garden—No Knockdowns Recorded

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP).—Max Baer, variously known as the California Adonis and the Livermore butcher boy, came back to Madison Square Garden tonight after a year's absence, to pound out a dull, ten-round decision over King Levinsky, of Chicago, "clown prince" of the heavyweights. The decision was unanimous, the two judges and Referee Gunboat Smith deciding Max had sunk his right into the King's ribs sufficiently to counterbalance the occasional wild swings that Levinsky managed to plant on the Californian's handsome countenance.

It apparently met the approval of the crowd of 10,000, which had few opportunities to cheer during the forty-five minutes of mingling and refused to get excited over a decision or anything else. There were no knockdowns.

WINS FIVE ROUNDS

According to The Associated Press score sheet, Baer, who enjoyed a nine-pound weight advantage, had a margin in five rounds, two went to Levinsky and three were no dice.

The only mark that either bore of the battle was Levinsky's left side, which was a deep red from the constant thumping it received during the interminable clinches.

Levinsky's most formidable weapon, the looping right that floored Tommy Loughran three times recently and had carried the former fish peddler into the front ranks of the heavyweights, made slight impression on Baer. For the first few rounds the Chicagoan got it over every now and then, but in the latter stages Baer brushed it off with his glove and waded in close to punish Levinsky to the body.

FIGHTERS OPEN UP LATE

The pair did most of their serious fighting just before the bell ended each round. With about ten seconds to go, they would heave to and stand swinging from the hips. Three times they continued after the bell, and the referee had to pry them apart.

As a result of tonight's victory, Baer advances right up near the head of the class in Promoter Jimmy Johnston's tournament of the alternates. He probably will meet the winner of next week's fifteen-rounder between Paolino Uzcudun and Ernie Schaaf, the survivor of that scrap to fight Steve Hamas. Max may, if all goes well with him, have the privilege of standing as chief alternate for the big bout, in June, between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling.

In the semi-final bout of the evening, Charlie Retzlaff, tall Duluth heavyweight, was awarded a technical knockout over Joe Woods, of Los Angeles, in the seventh round. A stiff right opened a cut over Woods' eye, bringing a flow of blood, and referee Smith stopped the bout after two minutes and fourteen seconds of fighting. Woods, half a head shorter than his opponent, had put up a rattling good fight, flooring Retzlaff for a nine count in the fourth round.

KIRKWOOD LEADS IN TEXAS OPEN

Former Australian Pro Tops Field With 70—Gene Sarazen Is Second, Stroke Behind

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 29 (AP).—Joe Kirkwood, Philadelphia pro, neglected his celebrated trick shots today long enough to shoot six birdies for a 34-36—70. It was good enough to lead the $2,500 Texas open field at the end of the first eighteen of the seventy-two-hole trek.

Kirkwood won the 1924 Texas open, moved to the front again today, but only one stroke ahead of Gene Sarazen, New York pro, who toured the Brackenridge Park course in 34-37—71.

Yesterday the tournament sensation was Tomekichi Miyamoto, open champion of Japan, who tied the course record with a 66, and with his partner, Tom Rue, of San Antonio, won the amateur-pro event with a 64 for a new course record. But the Japanese star was slightly off line with his approach shots today and was seven strokes behind Kirkwood with 39-38—77. Harry Cooper, Chicago, finished in a tie for third place with Ray Mangram, Los Angeles, and Clarence Clark, of Bloomfield, N.J., with 72's.

Royal Colwood Course Closed By Snowfall

ROYAL Colwood Golf Club will be closed until further notice on account of snow. The links were covered in a light blanket yesterday and unless more snow falls, the course should be open in a few days. The usual privileges have been extended to Colwood members by the Victoria Golf Club.

Buffalo Drops Out of Minor Hockey League

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Buffalo's franchise in the American Hockey League tonight was vacated by a vote of the league board. Financial difficulties caused the club to be dropped. The Majors' dates will be filled by other members of the league, which will operate as a five-club circuit.

ENGEN SHATTERS OWN SKI RECORD

It was fourteen feet better than his record for this course set at 243 feet last year, and was the second best official jump ever recorded, the best jump, now pending official sanction, was made at Davos, Switzerland, last Winter, by Sigmund Rund, member of the Norwegian Olympic team now at Lake Placid, N.Y., with a leap of 265.74 feet.

Engen's leap was thirty-three feet beyond the best effort of Halvor Hvalstadt, Los Angeles, who was second today at 224 feet.

The third best jump ever recorded was made by Gerger Rund, also of the Norwegian Olympic team, at 250.54 feet

SOCCER DUKES MEET TONIGHT

Vancouver and Local Delegates to Discuss Juvenile Football This Evening

An attempt to reorganize juvenile football in Victoria and surrounding districts will be made this evening at a monster meeting of local and Vancouver delegates at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock. The gathering will be held in Room D, and all interested are invited to attend.

With senior and junior soccer flourishing on the lower portion of the Island, delegates attending the meeting hope to bring the juvenile game back to a standard it held two years ago when a large group of clubs were operating in the city. On the Mainland, juvenile football is enjoying a great season, and the provincial soccer dukes cannot see why the game should not gain prominence here.

H. King and William Logan, president and secretary, respectively, of the British Columbia Juvenile Football Association, of Vancouver, are coming over for the meeting. J. Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia Football Association, will also be in attendance. Alex Marshall, Victoria's representative to the B.C.F.A., will be in charge of the meeting.

J.B.A.A. CAGERS TO TRAVEL TO SHAWNIGAN

CANADIAN ICE TEAM BEATEN

Winnipegs Nosed Out in Toronto Exhibition Against Two Teams by a 1 to 0 Score

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (CP).—Winnipeg's Lake Placid bound Winnipegs, amateur hockey champions of all Canada, piled up tonight on the rocky opposition of Toronto's two leading sextettes. Against Nationals and Marlboros, each playing half of a neck-and-neck exhibition tilt, the Canadian Olympic team sowed to 1 to 0 defeat.

Though Nationals scored the only goal netted against the Maple Leaf team, Marlboros put up the best hockey of the night. They stepped along with the speedy Manitobans and outdid them in combination play.

Romeo Rivers and Stoney Wise, 'Peg wings, and Netman Cockburn were the only red shirts to show title form.

The Nationals checked the 'Pegs on even terms and rarely were outskated by the Olympic representatives.

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT CARDED THIS EVENING

Brooks and Cowboy Ray to Meet in Feature Mix at Tillicum Gymnasium

EDDIE MONSON WILL GRAPPLE R. FRISBIE

A double main event will be presented to the wrestling fans this evening at the Tillicum Gymnasium. In the initial event Eddie Monson, Australia, will stack up against Ray Frisbie, California, over the eight ten-minute-round route, while "Rocky" Brooks, Victoria, will once again try conclusions with the rugged Cowboy Ray, Arizona, in the second main event. The first bout will get under way at 8:45 o'clock and a good crowd is expected to attend.

Although the Monson-Frisbie bout should provide plenty of action for the ringsiders, the spotlight will be turned on the Brooks-Ray affair, as both have been bitter rivals ever since their first meeting a year ago. The Victorian was awarded the call over Ray two weeks ago, when the Southerner used illegal methods during the fourth and final rounds.

In tonight's bout the pair will grapple in bare feet and the referee will let everything go but the stranglehold, an agreement made by the pair involved in the argument.

With both lads young, fast and clever, not a dull moment should take place in the Monson-Frisbie mix. Monson is an expert at using the flying tackle and is favored to win from the Californian.

Goals by Johnny Murray and Musgrave gave the Buds their win over the Juniors in the final canto. At the end of the first stanza, Rosebuds were out in front, 2-1, but the Juniors tied the score in the middle period. Timothy, Juniors' goalie, held the spotlight throughout, giving a great exhibition between the pipes.

Ernie Stock refereed both games, and the teams follow:

Rosebuds—Baker, J. Murray (2), Rabey, Jones (1), Musgrave (2), Jewsbury and Sage.

Cross Juniors — Timothy, West (1), Crump (2), White, Spaven, Barnswell (1).

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

One of Rover's good friends has met with reverses and Rover has confided to me that he does not feel like roamin' around with me today, but wishes his master to go alone, and let him spend the time in the company of his friend..

To this I most readily agreed, for I know well what reverses are and that the company, even of an old dog like Rover, will do much to keep his friend from making too much of what seems, just now, a sore trouble.

And, for myself, I don't mind a ramble away in the countryside alone one little bit; rather enjoy it, in fact, for it will give me the chance of thinking up some way to help Rover to help his friend perhaps, and that is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

On the side of the roadway, and not far from the upper Gorge waters, is an old tree to which I have often turned for consolation when in difficulties, or when things were a bit off, as it were.

I sat an hour or so there by the banks of the tidal waters; and, during all that time, the thought of Rover's friend's reverses (they are serious enough, too) haunted me, just as my own troubles have haunted me in days gone by; and, as I ruminated on the uses of adversity, I was, more and more, impressed with the fact that, in our prosperity, we never really and truly know who our friends are; but, in tribulation, we have a jolly good opportunity to find out.

That was one thing that my friend, the old tree, communicated to me.

Tenderly, that old tree looked down on my recumbent form, and it seemed to say: "I am old and have seen several generations of humans pass by, and to each its sorrow, to each its joy, but out of the reverses, which must meet, comes character, poise and a renewed hope for the morrow!"

Much else did I learn from that old tree; and so I pass this along to all who may have met reverses, and especially to Rover's very good friend: "Only those who have graduated from the school of adversity can be said to have a diploma of true purpose, and thus earn a pass to all that is kind and good and true!"

REVERSES

Each day contains a crushed hope, a reverse,
A failure, where we counted sure success;
And, all expectant of some happiness
In store for us, we meet the sorry hearse
Of our dead hope! Is some dread curse
Upon our life? Has Fate, the wily sorceress,
Charmed all away the future usefulness
Of our career, in God's fair Universe?

Ah! No! though wings be broken, we shall try,
Our new ambitions feather'd upward to fly;
And, someday, we shall, yet, successful be!
With each reverse fall down to kiss the earth;
But, rise refreshed—to better know the worth
Of loss, and find new hope—for Victory!

Arcanum Society Holds Card Party

The bridge party held by Majestic Council, No. 1513, Royal Arcanum Society, at the A.O.F. Hall last evening was a great success, thirty-three tables of whist being in progress until 10:15 o'clock, when supper was served, and later dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock. A number of additional guests came for the dance, about two hundred being present during the evening.

Those responsible for the success of the party were Messrs. Gordon Mackintosh, chairman; W. J. Carter, E. A. Estlin, L. B. Keith, E. D. La Lacheur, Daniel J. Miller, David Nicol, D. R. Park and James J. Stewart.

Cloth Towels at Lampson School To Be Discarded

The old cloth towels that hang on the walls of the Lampson Street School are to be relegated to janitorial services, it was decided at the meeting of the Esquimalt School Board, Thursday night, and in their place paper towels will be substituted.

For sanitary reasons roller towels will be banned from the washrooms of the school entirely. A year or two ago the board placed paper towels in some of the washrooms, but a large number of the cloth variety was left in use and, it was considered by the board that there was a danger of spread of disease.

When the requisition was read out from the report of Principal Hugh Creelman, Trustee Alexander Lockley remarked:

"Let us do away with the cloth towels. When you have 250 children using the same towel, it is nothing short of criminal. You are simply seeking trouble. The cost should not be considered because an epidemic of disease would quickly wipe out anything that had been saved."

A commercial traveler away from home for long periods at a time, saw very little of his child, aged four, and returning home one morning very early he stayed in the sitting-room reading a newspaper before the family got up.

Presently his little daughter came in. She looked at her father for a few moments, and then shouted: "Mammy, mammy, come here quick. That man's here again."

Scientists declare

"Good beer is a food!"

IN a recent testimony given to the Senate Committee of the United States at Washington, D.C., by Dr. Graham Lusk, Professor of Physiology at Cornell University, beer was described as "a good thing for the people." Professor Francis G. Benedict, Director of the Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institute at Boston, Mass., explained experiments which demontsrated that alcohol taken moderately (as is the case when drinking beer) had food qualities in calories easily assimilable.

Further, Dr. Francis Fronzak, Health Officer of Buffalo, stated deaths from alcoholism had decreased 50% in that city since the Peace Bridge to Canada was opened. The opening of the bridge, he said, permitted thousands of people to enter Canada and obtain "good beer," whereas, before such access was available, they went to the city parks and drank "bad whisky" on Sundays and holidays. He also stated that deaths from alcoholism during the year following the opening of the bridge were forty compared with eighty previously. These admittances show that good beer is highly recommended by doctors and people who know.

Pilsener Lager Beer is proven by analysis to be pure, healthful and refreshing.

Reports of War Depress Prices At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP).—Although able to reduce its extreme losses, the stock market closed heavy today, doubtless discouraged by delays at the Chicago rail conference.

Far Eastern affairs found their reflection in offerings of Japanese bonds, a sagging yen and finally in a bidding up of copper and steel stocks, a move which could easily be attributed to speculative quarters which were anticipating a possible demand for such materials should the Chinese situation take a more serious turn. Rails had a weak closing and the market generally was inclined to follow them. Net changes averaged into a decline of seven-tenths of a point. Transactions, totaling 1,528,855 shares, were considerably larger than yesterday's.

At their lows prominent issues showed losses of one to three points. These were reduced or canceled in the fifth trading hour coincident with a two-cent rally by wheat and the firmer appearance of the metals. There was little activity in the late dip; rather, the market seemed tired of trying to rally and eased off peacefully.

Fractional net losses prevailed in United States and Bethlehem Steels, Allied Chemical, General Electric, National Biscuit, Case and Woolworth. American Telephone made up two-thirds of a three-point drop. Consolidated Gas lost one, while in the rails Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific were off about one to two. Bethlehem preferred, American Sugar, Detroit Edison and Auburn softened several points.

Bonds continued their sagging tendency today in a quiet and orderly market. Prices were lower in practically all classes on securities, although trading became dull on the downward trend.

MINES AND OILS AT LOWER LEVELS

Trading Light at Vancouver Market —Pioneer Gold Leads Downward Movement

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29 (CP). — Prices slid to lower levels in a day of apathetic trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today. With the exception of Bridge River Consolidated, which was fairly active, other issues were traded in odd lots and interest scattered over about a dozen of the cheaper mines and oils.

Pioneer led the downward movement with a drop to 3.25, off 5. Pend Oreille was off 1 at 1.09, while Bridge River lost 3-4 to 11.

Other mines and the few active oils were unchanged to fractionally lower.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN SHARPLY

War and Short Crop Reports Send Values Up Nearly Two Cents

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29 (CP).—Turning sharply upward in the last hour, following the advance at Chicago, wheat prices here scored record gains of 1 3-4 to 1 7-8 cents today. Values advanced as much as 2 cents at one period in the most active session of recent weeks.

Bullish enthusiasm sent the May delivery up 1 3-4 cents at 63 1-2; July, 1 7-8 to 1 3-4 at 64 3-4, and October, 1 7-8 at its close of 66 1-4. Bullish news from several quarters accounted for the rise in prices, war news from the Far East and crop scares from the United States engendering an outburst of buying in the later stages of the session.

Fear that the present cold wave in Western Canada would spread southward and damage the Winter wheat crop, coupled with the unfavorable news from China, provided bulls with incentive for purchases on the long side of the market. The session had been firm in light trading from the opening, but the last-hour advances increased the volume of dealings considerably, in comparison with the deserted appearance of the pit in recent sessions.

Pressure of offerings from Argentina and Australia on the European market eased considerably, though demand for North American wheats continued absent. Reports also indicated that exports of wheat from Black Sea ports last week had decreased considerably. The week's shipments from Southern Hemisphere exporting countries reached a much smaller total than the previous week, which proved another stimulant to buying operations here.

Spreads in the cash wheat division were generally unchanged, demand for cash grades being indifferent. Coarse grain futures were dull and trading was draggy, prices moving within a narrow range throughout.

"Yes, if dad gets home it will be worse."—Hummel, Hamburg.

THAT WORD "DEMI-MONDE"

We have this term from the French, where it means, literally, "half world" or "half society." It is applied to persons of doubtful reputation, but has come to be used specifically for a so-called "kept woman."

The expression was coined by the well-known French dramatist and novelist, Alexandre Dumas' fils (son) who lived from 1824 to 1895—the son of the famous romantic novelist, Alexandre Dumas, who lived from 1802 to 1870.

PAYS $10 FINE FOR STEALING CURRENT

Pleading guilty to a charge of stealing electric light current by means of a "jumper" wire across the meter, P. W. Rookes was convicted and fined $10 in the Oak Bay police court by Magistrate George Jay, yesterday afternoon.

Counsel for the British Columbia Railway Company stated that tampering with the company's wires had become quite prevalent lately, and the charge was being pressed in this instance in the hope that it might act as a deterrent to others who might be tempted to tamper with the electric wires in a similar manner.

Government employees in Britain have increased by 3,725 in the last six months.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE TRANSFUSION OF BLOOD

For years before the discovery that liver would cure pernicious anaemia, it was customary to inject into the veins of these patients blood from healthy individuals. This would keep them going for weeks, often for months.

During the war "the great success which attended blood transfusion, in saving life and the ease and certainty with which it was performed by many of the methods used, led to its use in many conditions aside from actual loss of blood.

If after severe bleeding the haemoglobin in the blood is down to 30 per cent of normal, or the blood pressure is very low, transfusion of blood is the only way life can be saved.

Loss of blood may call for transfusion if a severe operation has to be performed, as in patients with ulcer of the stomach or first part of small intestine.

Transfusion is also of great help in those patients who bleed easily—bleeders they are called—as the blood from a healthy individual helps to coalgulate or thicken the blood and thus prevent bleeding.

The method of blood transfusion is simple. Into a 2 1-2 per cent solution of sodium citrate, four times its volume (or amount) of blood is allowed to flow from the healthy individual giving the blood (the donor). This blood is then run slowly into the veins of the patient by means of a funnel to which is attached a tube, to which is inserted the needle.

Drs. H. Cushing and L. B. Davis make use of a method for actually returning or reinfusing the blood lost during an operation of the brain. By means of a solution apparatus they collect the blood that is lost from the vessels during the operation. They citrate this blood as mentioned above and reinfuse it into the patient after the blood has been standing for twenty-four hours. This does away with trying to match the patient's blood with that of some suitable donor from whom to get the blood needed.

Recently, in a large city, a youngster was severely injured in an automobile accident. He was so universally beloved that more than two hundred volunteered to give blood to save his life. Not one of these neighbors had the right type, or belonged to the right groups to match or suit the blood of the youngster. It was some hours before an individual of the right group was obtained.

THE WISH TO OWN SUBURBAN OR country property is in the minds of many people, judging from the number of inquiries we have had lately. To possess a piece of property mostly in its wild state is the ambition of many of us. We enjoy planning its layout; we enjoy gradually clearing and underbrushing it, opening up new vistas and making new discoveries. If located in the logical path of the best residential growth, we know that it will increase in value.
If you want to see your dream take shape, ask us about a parcel of 7½ acres, with 2 acres under plough and the balance well wooded, situated on the Marine Drive in Gordon Head, with peeps of the sea and water, electric light and telephone available. The price is less than $500 an acre and the taxes on the whole property are only $38.
